FARMER STILL AT SHORT END IN PRICE CUTS

Slump in Retail Prices Lags Behind Amount Paid Producer in U. S.

FIND NO CONSPIRACIES

Party Leaders Give Own Interpretations of Tariff Law's Effects

BY WILLIAM HARD

Washington (CPA)—The bureau of labor statistics of the United States Department of Labor announced Monday that on July 15 the retail prices of food to the ultimate consumer had gone down 2 1/2 per cent in a month. This was contrasted by political observers here with the statement of the department of agriculture to the effect that in the same month the prices of farm products, as received by the farmer, had gone down 10 per cent. This gap between a 10 per cent drop for the farmer and only a 2 1/2 per cent drop for the ultimate consumer led to revived talk here of alleged profiteering on the route from the farmer to the consumer as a result of the drought.

No general convincing evidence, however, of any such profiteering in any unusual or unwarranted sense has come to the notice of the federal authorities. Officials of the bureau of agricultural economics of the department of agriculture stated Monday that there is always a "lag" between a drop in wholesale prices and the resulting drop at the counters of retail stores.

They said that the "lag" at this time did not seem exceptionally slow, although in recent years in consequence of modern stable-price retail methods the "lag" has been somewhat slower than it used to be.

NO UNDE INCREASES

The bureau of agricultural economics continues to state that its own survey of retail prices in the leading markets of the country discloses no undue advances made in prices by retail market operators. It points out that at this time of year there are always some small advances in certain commodities in consequence of the shift from early truck products grown in the south to later products of the same varieties grown in the north. Aside from this customary seasonal slight upward trend in such items the bureau of agricultural economics notes no retail price changes of general statistical consequence. It holds that cases of profiteering do not approach the proportions of a national problem but are

MANY HEROISM AWARDS ASKED FOR VETERANS

Washington (CPA)—Paced with a shower of measures providing for the award of decorations to veterans of the World War, a house committee has decided to formulate a policy for disposing of this legislation.

The present law sets a five-year period for the award of medals for World War heroism and the war department is opposed to any extension of the time. Congressional efforts have been made to secure such extension, but army officials feel awards should not be made after memories of witnesses begin to dim and the daring deeds take on proportions—whether magnified or diminished—which they did not possess on the field of battle.

A board of awards and decorations composed of army men has been at work on the individual cases brought to its attention, but friends of the veterans feel many may be passed up for the short time available. The pressure has led to attempts at congressional action.

WANTED 14 PIANOS

Mrs. W. C. Hillman, 739 W. Spencer street, tells us, "I thought it would be a good time to dispose of my piano that I no longer use. So I ran an ad in the Post-Crescent. The ad ran for six days and I received 15 calls from buyers ready with cash to buy or rent the piano. Of course, I could only satisfy one buyer as I had only one piano. I certainly found out that the time to sell pianos is now and that Post-Crescent Classified 'For Sale' ads certainly produce RE-SULTS.

BULLETIN

Sheboygan (CPA)—A woman was killed and nine other persons were injured in the collapse of a balcony where a number of persons had gathered this afternoon to view the American legion convention parade.

Reports said six or eight of the injured were in a critical condition and may die. Among the injured were: Appleton—Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Johnson, scalp wounds.

Act To Free 2 Girl Reds From Prison

Refused to Accept Offer of Flag—Charged With Its Desecration

Rochester, N. Y. (CPA)—A vigorous campaign to free two girl communists from a sentence of three months in the Monroe co. penitentiary, on charges of desecrating the flag, was launched here today. Rochester Communists are raising a defense fund and planning a mass meeting Saturday.

The girls, Allene Holmes, 23, of New York, and Mabel Hux, 20, of Belton, N. D., began serving their sentence yesterday. They were arrested after they had refused the proffer of a flag for their camp near Van Etten, where one hundred children under their charge were being instructed in Communist doctrines.

The refusal was the cause of a disturbance and authorities were called to protect the girls from a mob of 2,000 persons who threatened to burn the camp.

Bert T. Baker of Ithaca, retained by the International Labor Defense as counsel for the pair, has obtained an order for a hearing on their appeal for next Tuesday at Elmira. Both girls have denied the offense.

RECAPTURE PAIR OF ESCAPED PRISONERS

Neale and Van Berkel Arrested by Brown-co Officers Near Wrightstown

Green Bay (CPA)—Two men who escaped from the Brown-co jail yesterday, were captured this morning. Officers found Joseph B. Neale, Milwaukee, ready to surrender voluntarily after hiking along the railroad tracks out of Wrightstown. Theodore Van Berkel, who once before had escaped, was captured in a woodland tract three miles from Wrightstown. Neale, "couldn't stand the racket," so he was glad when officers from Green Bay arrested him, 12 hours after he had escaped.

"I would have given myself up anyway if you hadn't picked me up," he told the sheriff. But he was silent on the whereabouts of Van Berkel, who was recaptured a short time later.

MRS. OESTERREICH TO TAKE STAND IN TRIAL

Los Angeles (CPA)—Balanced in their efforts to win dismissal of murder charges against Mrs. Walburga Oesterreich, accused of slaying her husband, Fred Oesterreich, wealthy Milwaukee garment manufacturer, defense attorneys today prepared to place the defendant on the stand.

Fred Keane, friend of the Oesterreichs, was called as the first defense witness yesterday and told of spending several hours with the couple the evening of the slaying.

Rebel Leader Denies Tales Of Nationalist Victory

Shanghai (CPA)—General Seng Yu-Hsiang, commanding the northern rebels along the Hachow-Tungshan railway in Honan province, tonight sharply contradicted Nationalist claims to important advances in that sector.

In a communique from Kaifeng, capital of Honan province, the rebel war lord said fighting in Honan had been generally hampered during the past ten days on account of torrential rains, which transformed battle fields into rivers and bogs.

Despite the rain handicap, the communique said, 5,000 picked soldiers of the Kuomintang, or people's army supporting the northern rebels, made a desperate attack Saturday night on Nationalist positions fifty miles east of Lanfeng.

During the engagement, the war lord said, 2,000 Nationalists were

TWO CHECKS PAYABLE TO HARRY STARR

Evanston Chief of Police Also Had Financial Deal With Slain Man

Chicago (CPA)—Two checks signed by the slain gangster, Jack Zuta, each for $200 and each made payable to State Senator Harry W. Starr of the Thirtieth Illinois district, were taken from the Zuta strongbox today and made public by the state's attorney.

One check, was dated Oct. 5, 1926, and the other Oct. 16 of the same year.

Starr was elected to the state senate in November of that year. He is a candidate for reelection on the Republican ticket at the approaching November election.

Senator Starr was chairman of the legislative committee which last year investigated the "whoopee" records of the Chicago Sanitary district.

The indorsements on the checks have not been identified as in Starr's handwriting, the state's attorney said, but Starr has been asked to appear and explain the use of his name on the Zuta papers.

Senator Starr later said the checks had been given him by Zuta as fees in three suits in which he represented Zuta. The cases involved civil matters and the defendant Zuta from a personal injury judgement. Starr said. He said he had been out of town and would communicate with Attorney Rathbun, special assistant state's attorney later today for any additional information the authorities would want.

The district which Senator Starr represents is on the south side of Chicago.

CHIEF TOOK 'LOAN'

Revelation of Starr's name among the Zuta papers followed by a few hours the admission of William Freeman, Evanston police chief, that he had accepted $400 from Zuta as a loan. Freeman, a Chicago police lieutenant on furlough to permit him to act as police chief in the north shore suburb, acknowledged his signature on a note addressed to Zuta and requesting the loan of "four C's"—$400.

Freeman explained that he asked for the money at the time he became head of the Evanston police department. His new post necessitated his moving at once to Evanston, although he had a lease on a

GENEVA BOATS WIN FIRST YACHT RACES

Rakneten, owned by Porter Brothers, Lake Geneva, and sis III, owned by J. L. Ellwood, also of Lake Geneva, won Class B and Class C races respectively in the morning events of the inland Lake Yachting association regatta at Neenah Tuesday morning.

Other awards in the class E races were Overboard, owned by Donald Campbell, Delavan; second, Marie Ann, Philip Koerner, Pine Lake; third, Tomahawk, Cernin F. Gipsen, Minnetonka; fourth and fifth, Albert S. Fallon, Pine Lake, fifth. There were 27 starters and the time of the race was two hours, 10 minutes and three seconds.

Gale II, owned by Nye Brothers, Delavan, won second place in Class C, Nuissance owned by Bruce Adams, Lake Geneva, took third. O.M. O.H. Mr. Charles Edwards, Lake Geneva, owner, fourth, and Squall, Edmund Phillips, fifth. The fifth race was run in one hour, 49 minutes and 45 seconds.

A buffet supper was served to the regatta participants at the Valley Inn Monday evening, and a dance was held at the Northshore Golf club.

Loses Sight

ALMEE SEMPLE MCPHERSON

Los Angeles (CPA)—Almee Semple McPherson, evangelist, was reported today by her private secretary, Emma Schaeffer, to have gone blind. Miss Schaeffer said she had spent the night with Mrs. McPherson at her Malibu Beach cottage, where she said the evangelist was fighting to regain her sight. The secretary made the announcement to newspapermen.

Publisher Is Swept From Yacht, Fear

Van Lear Black, Famous Flier and Baltimore Publisher, Is Missing

Baltimore, Md. (CPA)—Van Lear Black, publisher of the Baltimore Sun, and noted world flier, was found to be missing last night from his yacht, the Sabalo, when the yacht was about 12 miles south of Scotland light, off the New Jersey coast.

The announcement was made today by his associates. Mr. Black was returning here from New York. They discovered he was missing when his valet went to the cabin about 10 o'clock. A search of the yacht was made immediately by Captain John J. Kelley, but Mr. Black could not be located.

The yacht was turned about and searchlights used, but without avail. Near a place on the deck where Mr. Black frequently sat one of his handkerchiefs was found. It was his habit to sit on the yacht's rail, with his feet caught in the guard rail and his hand on one of the upright stanchions. He had been warned by Captain Kelley on a number of occasions, Kelley said, that this was a very dangerous practice, especially when the yacht was at sea.

The explanation offered today by Captain Kelley was that he was sitting on the rail last night, when he reached into his pocket to get his handkerchief and thus lost his hold on the stanchion. There was a heavy swell running and it is supposed that a sudden lurch of the yacht threw him overboard.

Two coast guard craft joined the Sabalo in the search for some time and this morning both the coast guard and the navy department were requested to lend further help.

The information from the yacht was telephoned to Baltimore today by Captain Kelley from New York when the Sabalo landed there.

He went to New York July 31, the yacht and has been in and near that city since. He was on his way to Chesapeake Bay where he has an island home, when he disappeared.

When in New York he entertained Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt of New York, and Rear Admiral Richard B. Byrd aboard the yacht.

Mr. Black was chairman of the board of the A. S. Abell company, which publishes the Sun and the Evening Sun.

He returned in May from a tour of the world flight, one of several flights that have taken him to nearly every part of the world.

CINCINNATI NET STAR LOSES AT FOREST HILLS

Forest Hills, N. Y. (CPA)—Eastern hopes of winning the National Tennis championship tournament today when Marjorie Morr of Dedham, Mass., one of the leading players of this part of the country, made her debut in the tournament with a smashing victory in two straight love sets over C. Zinke of Cincinnati.

M'NIDER PREPARES TO ASSUME CANADIAN POST

Washington (CPA)—Harford M'Nider, newly appointed minister to Canada, began today a period of instruction on Canadian-American affairs preparatory to his departure for Ottawa.

The minister conferred at length with Canadian experts in the department.

TELL STORY OF RESCUE FROM SINKING SHIP

Passengers of Ill-fated Tahiti Describe Anxiety While Waiting

Wellington, N. Z. (CPA)—First stories from passengers of the ill-fated Pacific passenger liner Tahiti reaching here today from Pago Pago indicated that masterly seamanship on the part of the captain of both the Tahiti and the rescue ship Ventura prevented an appalling disaster. Twice before the Ventura arrived, when there seemed no hope of rescue at hand, the Tahiti's captain gave orders to the passengers to take to the lifeboats.

All aboard the Tahiti were grateful for what happened to be their deliverance when the freighter Penryn hove above the horizon and made her way to a point near the distressed Tahiti. But although she stood by and was willing to do all in her power to save the Tahiti and sinking craft, the Penryn lacked equipment to transfer the Tahiti's company.

3 DAYS OF FEAR

Fear ruled the Tahiti for three days but throughout their harrowing experience the passengers were orderly and obedient to the dictates of wiser minds. When the good fortune of rescue came to them the women passengers first were transferred then the men and finally the crew.

When all hands were aboard the Ventura an attempt was made to save the vast quantities of mail in her hold.

With some of the bags already taken off, ships' boats are returning for more when the Tahiti lurched and took another roll.

The waves swept over her bows, which fell to rise again from beneath the water. Then the doomed liner struck on an even keel. Her stern was submerged in a boiling white whirlpool.

FIGHT FIRE IN PLANE BUT MAKE SAFE LANDING

Pontiac, Mich. (CPA)—While his four passengers—one of them a woman—protected him and themselves with fire extinguishers, Bernard Rawson, 22, a Bay City, Mich., pilot, yesterday safely landed a burning airplane from a height of 3,000 feet.

Rawson, handling a cabin monoplane for the Aircraft corporation, was taking the passengers from Cleveland to Bay City, near here. Cico Slagle and Miss Florence Davis, on the front seat, discovered the fire and called to Rawson.

While the pilot dropped looking for a landing place, Slagle, Miss Davis and the other passengers, George Commons and Roselind Ward, seized fire extinguishers and kept the flames out of the cabin.

After dropping 250 feet, Rawson saw that the blaze was growing more serious and landed at once, barely missing a fence. A few minutes after the fire left the plane, it was rolled by a gasoline explosion. Except for scratches due to their hurried exit the occupants of the plane were unhurt. All of the passengers live in Bay City.

SALES MANAGER SUES TOM MIX FOR $13,000

Minneapolis (CPA)—Suit demanding damages was filed against Tom Mix, motion picture star, in district court today by John Berries, Minneapolis automobile sales manager, charging "malicious and wilful injury."

The plaintiff charged that while he was employed by the defendant, Berries was fired after he had been accused of stealing a car. Berries claimed that while he was employed by the defendant, he was fired after he had been accused of stealing a car. Berries claimed that while he was employed by the defendant, he was fired after he had been accused of stealing a car.

Admit Legionnaires Or Quit! Board's Edict To Minister

Iron Ridge, Wis. (CPA)—A formal ultimatum either to admit members of the American Legion to communion or resign his pastorate, will be issued tonight on the Rev. John Hennings, Evangelical Lutheran pastor, by his board of directors.

For two years the Rev. Mr. Hennings has declined to admit legionnaires to communion. Since the Wisconsin synod has taken no definite action, the board agreed that the local church should not have them. A formal demand was prepared, to be delivered at a meeting tonight.

The basis on which the Rev. Mr. Hennings and several other members of the synod object to giving com-

Dry Agent Suspended On Charges Of Misconduct

Two Other Officers Given Five-day Suspensions by Prohibition Chief

Washington (CPA)—George Golding, prohibition administrator at Albany, N. Y., was under indefinite suspension today on charges involving personal misconduct, which, if sustained, will result in his dismissal from the service.

Prohibition Director Woodcock, who announced yesterday he would punish illegal personal behavior of agents, said Golding was charged with misconduct with several stenographers in his office. The charges, brought by the girls themselves, are now on file with the civil service commission which has power tooust the administrator from the government service.

Two other agents, Robert F. Moore of Milwaukee, and Basil N. Quinn of Washington, D. C., were given five-day suspensions yesterday for their behavior in quarrels with stenographers over traffic rules. Merkle, the director said, attempted to arrest a motorist and drew a gun when asked to show his authority. Quinn was said to have struck a driver and taken him to police station, exceeding his authority.

Acknowledging the penalties to be mild, Woodcock said, he sought through these punishments to check abuses and promised more stern measures if necessary.

The dry chief refused to go into details of the Golding case. He said the administrator's record on the whole appeared to be good. Golding, who has been in Albany for about two years, won the nickname of "Hard-buck" Golding for earlier exploits in dry campaigns. He was assigned to Washington for a time in 1924 when a clean-up of violators was under way in the capital.

500 FIGHT FOREST FIRES IN MICHIGAN

Strong Winds Again Carry Threat to Number of Counties in State

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich. (CPA)—Nearly 500 men fought forest fires today in Chippewa, Luce, Alger, Schoolcraft and Mackinac counties. Failure of rain to materialize, coupled with strong winds, has brought about an increase in danger, according to Crosby Hoar, Milwaukee, assistant regional forester.

Thus far the property of valuable timber have been menaced, but slashings and cutover land again are dry, inviting fires and the wind has been causing much trouble.

Two hundred men, led by Hoar, are combating a break in the lines south of Strong, near Deerfoot lodge, ex-Governor Osborn's hunting camp. New lines are being established. Restocked hardwood growth is being burned. Thus far, the fire has swept 5,000 acres.

The enemy Martin fire in Mackinac co., 15 miles west and north of Lake Michigan, is being driven toward the lake. It is confined within narrow lines.

This fire reached its peak a week ago when smoke shrouded the straits of Mackinac and slowed navigation. Ninety-five men are on duty there.

Another fire on Brevoort Lake, Mackinac co., is under control. A third near the Knapland-Bigelow slashings two miles west and three north of Boynton is fought by 15 men. A fourth is near Glenhurst, on the Marlin-Luceco line.

KOHLER CO. OFFICIAL DENIES BLAINE CHARGE

Kohler (CPA)—O. A. Kroos, secretary-treasurer of the Kohler Co., issued a formal statement today saying that "the statement attributed to Senator Blaine that the Kohler Co. profited in the war is a deliberate falsehood."

"The Kohler Co.," Kroos said, "manufactured products for the war only in 1918. . . . Every contract given us was on a competitive basis, and we were the lowest bidders."

"Contrary to Senator Blaine's statement, the company's profits in 1918, after paying all taxes, amounted to that year, were substantially less than any of the five preceding years, or any year since the war."

"Not only did the company gain no advantage from the war, but its existence was actually endangered by the wartime embargo on residential buildings, which if continued, would mean we have put the company out of business."

ONE KILLED, ANOTHER INJURED IN SMASHUP

Milwaukee (CPA)—R. M. Thompson, an employe of the electric company, was killed and his companion, Carl E. K. was critically injured, when their automobile was struck by a street car, which was driven by a man who suffered a fractured skull.

Witnesses said the automobile was traveling on a street car track when it was struck by a street car. The automobile was driven by Thompson, who was killed. K. was critically injured.

FOURTH GARY BANK IS CLOSED WITHIN WEEK

Gary, Ind. (CPA)—Another Gary bank was closed today—the fourth within a week, and the third within a day.

The Gary Labor bank, organized in 1925 announced that it would remain closed today to protect its resources. A small run upon the institution late yesterday, blamed upon unpopularity due to the closing of the Mid-City State bank and its branch, the Fifth Avenue bank, led the directors to take this action.

The Gary Labor bank has total resources of $670,000. State Senator J. J. Nejdil of Whiting, is president.

300 COUNTIES REQUIRE HELP, HOOVER FINDS

President Names Members of National Drought Relief Committee

CREATE STATE BODIES

County Organizations to Supply Necessary Data for Effective Work

Washington (CPA)—Secretary Hyde was appointed by President Hoover today as chairman of the National Drought Relief committee.

The head of the agriculture department has already moved to assure that farmers will get the benefit of reductions made on freight shipments of grain in various sections, having instructed county agents in affected regions to watch and report on the situation. The national relief committee is to coordinate federal activities for cooperation with the groups being set up in stricken states.

The movement of feed for livestock into drought-stricken areas will receive immediate attention. The agriculture department agents have been charged by Mr. Hyde to look to the interests of the farmer in watching application of the reduced shipping rates.

Other members of the national committee will be Chairman Legge of the federal farm board; Paul Bester of the federal farm loan commission; Roy A. Young, governor of the federal reserve board; John Barton Payne, chairman of the American Red Cross; R. H. Aleson, president of the American Railway association; Oaden Mills, under secretary of the treasury and Henry M. Robinson, president of the First National bank of Los Angeles.

SENATOR DENIES TAKING FUND FROM RUM RUNNERS

Seattle (CPA)—Testimony in a federal liquor conspiracy and bribery trial that rum runners contributed $6,000 to the 1928 Washington senatorial campaign, has brought a reply from Senator Wesley Jones.

Senator Jones at Wenatchee said yesterday he never was told, and never knew, if liquor bribe money had been contributed to his campaign. The senator said he "could not imagine liquor men giving $6,000 to my campaign and my not knowing it."

The testimony about the alleged contribution was offered by Alfred M. Hubbard, admitted rum runner and later a prohibition agent, at the trial of Roy C. Lyle, former federal prohibition administrator, three of his former aides, and C. T. McKinney, former assistant United States attorney.

They are specifically charged with accepting money from rum runners for immunity from arrest.

Defense counsel prepared to subject Hubbard to a vigorous cross-examination today in an effort to shake his story of large payments from bootleggers to the defendants, including the alleged campaign contribution.

TWO KILLED AS AUTO PLUNGES INTO DITCH

Cresco, Iowa (CPA)—S. K. Gudmundson, 40, of Venatchee, Wash., and Flor B. Zapata, 27, a Filipino student at Kansas State College of Agriculture, Manhattan, Kan., were killed today when the automobile plunged into a ditch after a tire blew out.

Jack Randall of Kansas City, was seriously hurt in the crash. Two other Kansas State students, John Steas and Joe Bogala, also Filipinos, escaped injury.

The party was enroute from Cassville, Mo., where they had appeared on a charitable program to Gebo, Mo., where they were scheduled to appear tonight.

Randall was brought to a hospital here. The extent of his injuries had not been determined but it is feared he was injured internally.

FINANCE MINISTER RESIGNS IN SPAIN

Madrid (CPA)—The cabinet today voted on resignation of Minister of Finance, Arceles, and appointed on his place Gila Wase, who held the post of minister of economy.

May of Arceles was appointed minister of finance in the cabinet of Primitivo Buerba, when that cabinet was formed on Jan. 30, 1929, in the midst of a severe economic depression in Spain.

The new cabinet was formed after the resignation of the Dictator Primo de Rivera, on Jan. 28, whose cabinet had been in existence with changes in personnel from time to time since Dec. 2, 1923.

RAINS HELP SOME AREAS

"Continuing reports confirm the severity of the situation and the inevitability of distress over the winter in the acutely affected counties, which now apparently number something over 300."

"The rains of the last few days have stemmed the spread of the drought and greatly improved the situation outside the acutely affected area. In those areas the destruction of crops has proceeded to a point that is beyond any great de-

Shouse Turns Democrats' Guns On Republican Regime

TILSON MAKES SHARP REPLY TO CHARGES

Leaders of Both Major Parties Begin Battle for Control of Congress

Washington—(P)—The battle for control of congress was on in earnest today with leading spokesmen of the Republican and Democratic parties recording their views of the general issues on which the contests are to be decided at the November elections.

Joseph Shouse, chairman of the Democratic national executive committee, placed the Democratic side before the country in a radio address last night, in which the administration was charged with "efforts both of omission and commission. An immediate defense and counter-attack was issued in a statement to the press by John A. Tilson, of Connecticut, Republican floor leader in the house of representatives.

Shouse's attack centered on the tariff bill, farm relief and business depression. President Hoover, in the speech, was made to share responsibility for the tariff bill. He was singled out also for individual criticism in connection with the farm relief legislation adopted and for failure to check in advance the depression which set in last fall.

Tilson termed the Democratic speech "an amazing collection of half truths, misstatements, abuse and criticism."

"OFFERS NO CURE" Shouse, said Tilson, "failed to suggest a cure for a single thing which he criticized. Instead of offering a constructive program as his listeners had every right to expect him to do at this time, he presented the regrettable spectacle of the at least verbal leader of a political party literally gloating over the economic distress of the country."

The Democratic leader asserted the people of the country "are arising to a political overthrow that may assure the proportions of a cat-alyst" because the party had "a definite, well considered administrative and legislative program which it is carrying forward to completion despite the determined obstructive tactics of the Democrats."

Shouse said farm products had declined in price steadily since passage of the farm act; he contrasted the Hoover 1928 campaign speeches assuring continuation of prosperity under Republican rule with the unemployment and depressed business obtaining within the year. He blamed the president for not warning against speculation while secretary of commerce and president-elect.

"Conceding that after the crash Mr. Hoover 'did' perhaps all any man could to try to effect an adjustment of conditions," Shouse observed that "history is apt to record that he locked the barn door after the horse was stolen."

THINK SWIFT SHOT DURING STRUGGLE

Male Nurse Reports He Fought Patient for Possession of Pistol

New York—(P)—The possibility that William E. Swift, son of Louis F. Swift, meat packer, was shot in a struggle for possession of a pistol in the sanatorium where he was said to have committed suicide Saturday night, was under investigation today by Dr. Charles G. Norris, chief medical examiner.

Dr. Edward E. Cowles, owner of the sanatorium, and others were under subpoena to appear at a hearing before Dr. Norris in the municipal building this afternoon at which the medical examiner hopes to clear up all facts in connection with Swift's death.

Shortly before the body was taken to Chicago in charge of Aiden Swift, a brother, yesterday, Dr. Norris performed a second and more complete autopsy. Later he expressed surprise that the examination had failed to reveal traces of alcohol. When Swift's death was reported, police said they had been told he had suffered from alcoholism.

A sentence in the report of Dr. Robert C. Fisher, an assistant medical examiner who had charge of the case, caused Dr. Norris to believe some facts concerning Swift's death had not been fully explained. This sentence was:

"Shot himself with his own revolver, a .33 calibre Colt, while the nurse was trying to get the gun away from him."

Rudolph Helfmanek, the male nurse who was with Swift at the time of his death is quoted by police as having reported that Swift shot himself with a pistol he drew from under his covers while Helfmanek was sitting in a chair nearby.

Slays Husband

Mrs. Josephine Napper, 60, above, who admits she killed her 71-year-old husband, Jasper Napper, "because he ran around too much with younger women," faces first degree murder charges at McArthur, Ohio. An ax was the weapon used in the crime.

REVISE TAX LAW, LA FOLLETTE PLEAS

Make Great Wealth Pay Its Proportionate Share, He Urges

Monticello—(P)—Revision of the Smith income tax law "to the end that great wealth shall pay its just and proportionate share of the tax burden and that farmers and home owners shall be relieved of excessive tax burdens," was pledged by Philip LaFollette here today if he is elected governor.

Pointing to a need of such revision, the gubernatorial candidate said that the net income of corporations in Wisconsin from 1914 to 1927 had increased from $63,000,000 to more than $155,000,000. Since 1919 incomes from farms and other forms of income have constantly decreased, he said.

"After four years of effort Progress succeeded in 1925 in enacting the tax bill of that year, which produced enough additional revenue from income to relieve real estate of all taxes for state purposes in 1925 and 1926," LaFollette said. "In 1927, the Smith Tax bill was enacted, which relieved great wealth and imposed increases on small incomes."

In the face of the present administration's pledge to "revise the Smith Income Tax bill for the benefit of people with small incomes," the original Daggert Bill of 1929, introduced with the support and approval of the present administration would have relieved great corporations of taxation, but would have cost the state of Wisconsin and its taxpayers $18,000,000 in lost income taxes.

"In the face of these pledges, and conditions existing in Wisconsin the present administration voted, or through its supporters in the legislature defeated every attempt in the 1929 session of the legislature to cut the taxes on farms, real estate and moderate incomes. This policy made necessary the levy by the present administration of tax for state purposes of farms, homes and real estate of $4,295,000—the largest since 1925."

BERLIN ATTORNEY VISITS C. C. BUREAU

C. Krueger, Berlin attorney was in this city Monday studying the credit information bureau of the local chamber of commerce, according to Kenneth Corbett, chamber secretary. Mr. Krueger is interested in the formation of a similar bureau in Berlin for the association of commerce.

OPEN BIDS FOR NEW WATER WORKS OFFICE

Bids for construction of a new building for the city water commission were opened at a special meeting in the city hall Monday afternoon. Approximately 12 bids were received, most of them from local firms. No definite action was taken but it is expected the certified checks accompanying the bids will be returned because all of the bids were too high, it is reported.

Carpenters to Meet Carpenters local, No. 555, will meet at 7:30 Wednesday night at Trades and Labor hall. Routine business will be transacted.

WISCONSIN WEATHER Partly cloudy tonight and Wednesday; not much change in temperature.

GENERAL WEATHER

High pressure accompanied by fair and continued cool weather prevailed over the entire north central and eastern states this morning. Rainfall during the last 24 hours was slight, being confined to a narrow section along the central Missouri Valley. Low pressure is approaching from the Canadian northwest, causing rain and unsettled weather in that region. Partly cloudy weather, with little change in temperature, is expected in this section tonight and Wednesday.

N. CAROLINA MASKED MOB HANGS NEGRO

Takes Prisoner from Jail, Hangs Him from Tree, Riddles Body With Bullets

Tarboro, N. C.—(P)—Oliver Moore, 29-year-old Negro, charged with criminal assault on two small white girls, was taken from the Edgecombe county jail early today by two masked men, hanged to a tree and his body riddled by bullets.

After gaining admittance to the jail on a ruse, the mob carried the Negro to his home, approximately 100 yards across the line in Wilson county and 15 miles from here. There they strung him to a tree and fired scores of bullets into his body.

Deputy R. O. Watson, who lives with his family at the jail, had retired when he heard a voice calling him early today. Believing it to be an officer with a prisoner, he went to the door and called, "have you got a man for me?" Someone in the mob answered affirmatively and Watson unlocked the door. As he did he saw the crowd of masked men and made an effort to throw the bolt. The men rushed through, forced him into his office and took all the keys from a peg on the wall.

Going down the jail corridor, the deputy rapped the men unlocked cell after cell until they found Moore. The Negro apparently realizing his fate, went to his death without a word.

Moore was given a preliminary hearing yesterday afternoon on a charge of assaulting the small daughters of an Edgecombe county farmer. He waived examination and was ordered held for trial without bond. Sheriff W. E. Barden of Edgecombe county ordered the Negro placed in the county jail pending his trial at the September term of Superior court.

Notified as soon as the men drove off, the sheriff went in search of the lynchers. He reached the Negro's home after the mob had dispersed and found the body.

Watson said that none of the men in the mob had been recognized. This was the first lynching in North Carolina since 1921.

HOLD RATE HEARING AT MADISON, SEPT. 8

Railroad Commission Accepts Application of City Water Commission

Application of the Appleton water commission for authority to revise its rates has been accepted by the Wisconsin Railroad commission and a special hearing will be held in Madison Sept. 8, according to word received here from William M. Dinneen, commission secretary. The commission is now making a thorough study of the report submitted by C. A. Selfert, auditor and rate counselor of the local commission. If the state commission grants permission for the revision of rates, water prices will be changed in October or November, continuing until the first year, according to the various periods set aside for distributing water bills to city consumers, according to A. J. Hall, superintendent of the city pumping station and filtration plant.

LEAVE FOR ANNUAL WATER WORKS MEET

Four members of the city water department left Tuesday to attend the annual convention of the Wisconsin division of the American Water Works association at Superior. They are A. J. Hall, superintendent of the city pumping station and filtration plant; W. T. Timm, member of the commission; Arthur Dimick, assistant secretary of the commission, and Irvin Tornow, department supervisor. Mr. Hall will be one of the principal speakers.

Dr. and Mrs. J. A. Holmes have returned from Hayward, where they spent the summer at their cottage. Dr. Holmes, pastor of the Methodist church, will preach Sunday morning.

DIVORCE IS LUXURY, JUDGE DECLARES IN PUTTING O. K. ON FEE

Milwaukee—(P)—Divorce is a luxury for those who seek it, Circuit Judge John C. Kleczka believes, and as a luxury, its cost should come higher.

At a hearing here yesterday in an alleged excessive fee charged by an attorney in a divorce case, Judge Kleczka said the average fee in Milwaukee was $17. He said he believed $250 a fair fee for about 95 per cent of the cases.

"Divorce is a luxury for those who seek it," he said, "but it is hard work for the lawyer. The person who sues should pay not only for the luxury, but also for the hard work entailed in such litigation."

RUMOR GHANDI IS READY FOR PEACE

Mahatma Offer Reported Providing Dominion Status Is Assured India

London—(P)—Reports from India that the Mahatma Gandhi had offered peace in his letter to the viceroy if Lord Irwin and the British government will pledge dominion status for India at the forthcoming round table conference today aroused deep interest in official quarters where news of major importance was expected to be announced within 48 hours.

After the conferences of last week in the Yeroda jail at Poona the leader of the civil disobedience forces in India wrote a letter which was supposed to embody the terms upon which he would consent to a cessation of the activities of his volunteers.

It was pointed out today that if reports as to the nature of the Mahatma's peace offering were true they must have emanated from a leak on the part of some interested party since Gandhi's communication to the viceroy was written in prison and was to be delivered only today.

There was said to be a growing feeling in exceptionally well-informed quarters that "big news" from India could not be long delayed. This was taken to mean only that the Gandhi letter would be published with its assent of refusal. The possibility that the letter would contain announcement of cessation of the non-cooperation movement on the part of the Nationalists received some credence.

APPROVE VESTIBULE FOR ST. MARY CHURCH

Permission to construct a new vestibule on St. Mary church, which will virtually mean a complete new front, was given at the meeting of the board of appeals at city hall Monday evening. The request for the building permit was appealed because the proposed improvement does not conform with the ordinance concerning setback lines.

WRISTON OUTLINES CHIEF FEATURES OF COMMUNITY CHEST

Project Must Have Support of Community, He Tells Civic Council

The advantages of a community chest were outlined by Dr. H. M. Wriston, president of Lawrence college, at the monthly meeting of the Civic Council at the Y. M. C. A. Monday evening. Following his address an open forum discussion on the question was held, with Dr. Wriston answering questions.

Dr. Wriston, who during the World War was actively engaged in the formation of community chests and similar organizations in Connecticut and the eastern part of the country, said: "It is necessary that a chest be a permanent organization, with perfect leadership if it is to survive the attacks of public sentiment and opinion."

"A community must be interested in such a project wholeheartedly and individual interest must develop into staunch municipal support if it is to be a success. Leaders of a community chest project must stand united and must uphold uniform principals and ideas if the project is to be anything but a 'Tired Business Men's club'."

"There are three factors which head to the success of a chest: Community spirit must be alive continuously; contributions must come from a fair cross-section of a city's population; and the campaign must be kept going the year around."

Dr. Wriston said he believed funds must be derived by three methods if the chest is to be successful. A working fund must be at hand before a drive is started, he said. The working fund should represent at least one-third of the entire fund.

"The second third of the fund must be derived from substantial donors, and the last third from the majority of the people," he said. "The last third is as important as the second, and leaders must keep that fact constantly in mind if they are to stage a successful campaign."

The community chest committees must be ready to handle any emergencies, and the budget must be properly regulated, even if it is necessary to change the fiscal year.

"The chest also should be ready to investigate and aid the organization of new fund raising agencies. A survey should be made first to see if there is a need for its organization, and if found worthy, it should receive the wholehearted aid of the committee."

Dr. Wriston pointed out that method of campaigning for funds had changed.

"When soliciting for funds, solicitors must put clearly the need for the money, and secondly must explain to the people being solicited the reasons why the campaign is being staged, and for what purposes every dollar is to be used," he said.

"The organization of a community chest must be on a foundation of thorough education and pious solicitation if it is to be successful." Miss D. Holt, orthopedic administrator of the school for crippled children, submitted a report on the number of pupils receiving treatment, and on methods used in giving treatment. Mrs. Mable Shannon also gave a report on the school.

FRENCHMAN THINKS AMERICAN WOMEN COPY EACH OTHER

Chicago—(P)—The difference between American and French women says Louis Clement, is that the former try to copy each other while the latter try to be themselves.

And Clement, a New York and Paris cosmetician attending the convention of the American Association of Cosmeticians and Hair Artists, believes the French woman is right.

The Parisienne, Clement told reporters, seeks to be an individual; she achieves her chic by studying herself and wearing the clothes and makeup that accentuate her individuality. The American woman, on the other hand, wears polka-dots if her neighbor wears them and a posy on her shoulder if that seems to be the style.

Too much plucking of the eyebrows and too much makeup, according to Clement, are the two chief faults of the fair sex in America. He suggested face powders blended to the complexion of the individual with nearly all women using a darker powder than at present.

Only a blonde turned gray can risk white powder and flesh is almost as dangerous, Clement said, for it makes the nose purple. Green powder is excellent for women with high coloring but no rouge should be used.

INDIAN TRIBES PREPARE FOR ANNUAL PAGEANT

Albuquerque, N. M.—(P)—Hundreds of bronzed Indian tribesmen from the painted desert beyond the cactusrimmed horizon thronged Albuquerque today for the annual pageant, "The First American."

The gaudy blankets of the Navajos, brilliant costumes of Spanish grandees and cavaliers, bright shawls of senoras and senoritas added color to the occasion as the four-day reenactment of southwest history began.

Booted horsemen from the cattle trails and desert waterholes mingled with tenderfeet of distant cities along the line of march where Gov. Richard C. Dillon was programmed to lead a parade of 1,200 Indians.

Zunis, Pueblos, Hopis, Navajos and all the other desert tribes were represented by the chiefs, medicine men, braves and squaws gathered for the celebration.

Spanish conquistadores, represented by their descendants had a place in the spectacular procession.

Thinks Woman Suffrage Falls Short Of Its Goal

Washington—(P)—Emily Newell Blair, who campaigned for suffrage in Missouri back in 1914, is "frankly discouraged about it when in politics."

She made this known today in her contribution—the first pessimistic one—to a fat compendium of opinions on women and the ballot gathered by the League of Women Voters to mark the tenth birthday of feminine suffrage in America.

All these views, gathered from notables of both sexes, are to be published for the anniversary on August 18, the day of the signing by former Secretary of State Coby of the proclamation that actually culminated the movement.

"I am afraid," Mrs. Blair said, "the suffragists have made the same mistake as the temperance group. Both thought that with their victory they had only to defend their position; and so, just as the Women's Christian Temperance union stopped its educational work for temperance and devoted itself to claiming the eighteenth amendment worked, so the suffragists stopped their educational work of convincing people that women had no right to equality and devoted themselves to other interests."

Mrs. Franklin Roosevelt said women had made "a contribution to better government," and that "wherever they have taken part in local politics, there is no question but what the general standards have gone up." She contended "the percentage of those who use their suffrage is probably about equal now to the percentage of men who use theirs."

Dr. W. A. Neilson, president of Smith college, put into words what many who were consulted seemed to feel. He said, "It is a commonplace that no great political change produces all the evil its opponents predicted or all the good its supporters hoped for." In his observation, he added, fears of the opponents of women's suffrage "have been realized hardly at all," while the high hopes of its supporters "are being gradually but steadily fulfilled."

RESURFACING IS BROUGHT TO END ON CITY STREETS

Few Patching Jobs Remain, but Major Part of Program Is Completed

The large steam roller choked out its last chug on Oneida-st Tuesday noon, and the last shovel of black dressing was smoothed down with a final extra flourish to indicate the close of the summer's paving and resurfacing program. With the completion of Oneida-st, which has been torn up for months, the body of the paving program is completed, although there still remains about two weeks of patching and repair work before the smoking black demons that have graced Appleton streets for two months can be trundled back to their storehouses.

Oneida-st, a block on Lawrence-st., and two on Washington-st have been resurfaced with asphalt, and three blocks on Rankin-st and one on Hancock-st were paved. Besides this work the machinery of the Caughlin company has trailed the Wisconsin Michigan Power company crew in its rail removal campaign. The construction crew filled in the trenches left by the removal of rails on all streets except E. College-ave, W. Prospect-ave, and on S. Oneida-st in front of the streetcar barns. The work on these streets will be started immediately as well as that of patching holes in Appleton's other asphalt streets.

The old crescent blocks, which for years have provided a hop, skip and jump game for pedestrians and ample cause for profanity for motorists, were hauled to the stock fair grounds. Mayor John Goodland, Jr., stated Tuesday morning that anyone wishing them for winter work may obtain them without charge.

The local Lions club turned to miniature golf Monday afternoon and staged a tournament on the new Tom Thumb Golf course at the intersection of W. Franklin and N. Superior-sts, following their weekly luncheon at the Conway hotel.

Thirty players, in 15 pairs entered the tournament and several record cards were turned in at the finish of the 18-hole round.

Low score was turned in by Eric Lindbergh, who shot a par 42 for the 18 holes. He took a two on every hole in the last nine holes, after taking a 24 total on the first nine. He was paired with Austin Saecker, who shot a 75.

Two 45 cards also were handed in, one by H. A. De Bauffer and the other by Dr. Frawley.

ISSUE WARNINGS AGAINST FORGER

4-H CLUB PLAYERS
TO HOLD PRACTICE

The Milwaukee Better Business Bureau has issued warnings against W. L. Martin, St. Paul, who last week forged several checks at Milwaukee, according to information received here Monday morning by Kenneth Corbett, chamber of commerce secretary. He is well dressed, tall, about five feet, 11 inches, has a cataract on his left eye, and is of dark complexion. He left Milwaukee late last week without paying four days board at a hotel. He gave a $200 check in payment for $50 worth of merchandise from the Moe-Bridges Co. of Milwaukee. He also forged a $15 check with the same company. The $200 check was made out on a First National bank check of Independence, Kans.

The Twin Willows 4-H club players guild, which is to give a series of plays at the school next fall, will meet in the school building at 7:30 Tuesday evening. The first play is to be given the first week in September.

Appleton's Unemployment Below General Average

1.14 PERCENT, OUT OF WORK, SEEKING JOBS

Neenah and Menasha Also Better Off Than Country as Whole

BY RUBY A. BLICK
Post-Crescent Washington Bureau
Washington, D. C.—Out of a population of 23,262 in Appleton, 298 persons had no jobs, were able to work and wanted jobs the day before the census enumerator called on them. Thus 1.14 per cent of Appleton's total population was unemployed, whereas the most optimistic estimates indicate that 2 per cent of the total population of the country is unemployed. In Outagamie county, 551 persons or less than 1 per cent were unemployed out of a total population of 52,775.

Neenah and Menasha both show percentages of unemployment lower than the 2 per cent estimated for the entire country.

In Menasha, out of a population of 9,035, 109 persons who usually work were without a job, though able to work and looking for a job on the day before the census enumerator called on them. This is a little more than 1.2 per cent of Menasha's population.

In Neenah, out of 9,151 persons, 123 were out of work, making a per cent of about 1.34.

The census in Wisconsin started on April 2 and finished in some districts before the close of the month while in others it extended into May.

All figures are preliminary and subject to correction, the Census bureau warns. They will be supplemented later by data for other classes of persons not at work at the time of the census, such as those who had a job and were sick or temporarily laid off.

KAUKAUNA YOUTH GOES TO JAIL FOR 10 DAYS

Gordon Frank, Kaukauna, who was brought into municipal court Monday morning charged with drunkenness started a 10-day sentence in county jail Tuesday when he failed to raise a $15 fine. Frank got 10 days because he ran out on the court several weeks ago after being arraigned on a similar charge.

At the time he went out to get the money for his fine and did not return until brought into court on another count.

Two juveniles arrested with Frank were to be taken before Judge Theodore Berg in juvenile court. They also are charged with drunkenness.

PASTOR BACK FROM LUTHERAN MEETING

The Rev. R. E. Ziesemer, pastor of Mt. Olive Lutheran church, returned from Quincy, Ill., where he attended the Evangelical Lutheran Synodical Conference of America as the representative of the northern district of the Wisconsin synod. He acted as substitute for the Rev. L. Koeniger, Manitowish, the official delegate who was unable to attend.

The conference was devoted to a discussion of church problems. The principal speaker was Dr. J. Kretschmann, Concordia seminary, of the Lutheran synod of St. Louis. His paper was entitled, "True Unionism." Clerical and lay delegates from the synods of Missouri, Ohio, and other states, the joint synod of Wisconsin and other states, and the Slovak and Norwegian synods were present.

TWO NEW LONDON WOMEN GET DIVORCES

Two divorces were granted by Judge Theodore Berg in municipal court Monday. One was to Mrs. Minnie Hertzfeld, 55, New London, from Albert Hertzfeld, 62, town of Hortoria. The couple was married at New London Nov. 1, 1922, and separated June 9, 1929. The charge was non-support.

The other divorce was given Lyla Phillips, 25, New London, from Stephen Phillips, 33, residence unknown. They were married at Cazdola, Minn., July 5, 1927 and separated five months later. Non-support, drunkenness and cruel and inhuman treatment were charged.

POLICE HERE SEEK STOLEN ROADSTER

A Chevrolet roadster, 1930 model, was stolen from the yard in the rear of 419 E. Wisconsin-ave Monday night, according to reports to police. The car is the property of Lothar Grunert, living at the same address. It is painted green and has a gray top which was down when last seen. The car carries Wisconsin license C-279438. The motor number is 1677912, the serial number 51AB-33660.

TWO MEN FINED IN MUNICIPAL COURT

Failure to procure or apply for a 1930-31 license for a truck he was driving cost Arthur Mettner $10 and costs in municipal court Monday afternoon. He was arrested Saturday by Officer Adna Thomack.

Another case in municipal court Monday afternoon was that of George Weyenberg, 32, Kimberly, charged with disorderly conduct. He was fined $5 and costs.

County 4-H Club Workers Are Planning Demonstrations At Seymour Fair

Preparations for demonstrations at the Seymour fair have occupied much time of Outagamie county 4-H club workers during the last few weeks, according to letters of the various club reporters to Gustave Sell, county agricultural agent.

The 30-title club which recently was organized with eight members met Aug. 12, with the vice president, Jeanette Jarvis, presiding. The club was formally named at the meeting and members decided on a candy sale at Clintonville Aug. 23. Fern Schultz and Jeanette Jarvis were named sales ladies. Funds from the sale will be used for printed note paper.

FAIL TO RESTORE PROFITABLE PRICES ON RAW MATERIALS

Several Commodities Needed by Modern Industry Sell Below Cost

Washington—(AP)—Failure of international efforts to restore profitable price levels for a number of commodities essential to modern industry, was seen today in the reports from the agents aboard of the commerce department.

Rubber, sugar, silver, tin, zinc, and other affected raw materials have been subject of activities which the commerce agents have been surveying carefully.

In the case of raw rubber—the United States consumes more than 70 per cent of the world supply—the New York price for weeks has remained at around 10 cents per pound, although the Dutch-English committee supervising the combination effort holds that 18 cents represents the bare cost of production in the East Indies where its main sources are located.

At this time during the past decade, rubber has sold far above $1 a pound.

Tin, produced in the East Indies, Africa and South America, has dropped to under 20 cents per pound—in contrast with a 25¢ year average selling price of twice that figure—despite the application of rigid output restrictions by a trade agreement.

SEAGRAM SITUATION

Cuban raw sugar, the basis of most of the United States supply, is quoted at $1.15 per hundred pounds, about half its cost last year, and about a twentieth of the highest price at which it has been marketed. During the long sugar price recession, control systems have been broken down, but the desperate conditions induced by the latest descent has enlisted American banking enterprise, and occasioned an endeavor to dispose of the surplus production in Russia on credit.

In the case of silver, producers in both the United States and Mexico have sought governmental assistance. Nevertheless, the price has proceeded to take new low ground in economic history.

A zinc cartel, based on German organization, has been forced this year to watch the price of its commodity drop from 6 to nearly 4 cents a pound before being able to stem the tide. Brazilian coffee, Chilean nitrates and copper have left some what similar records, although the situation surrounding them are as presenting less simple cases of economic distress.

In economic theory supply should shut itself off when producers are unable to get back even cost of production, and prices should then advance. Today, however, in almost every line of production in question, output has for many years been in the hands of large and heavily capitalized corporations which have continued to produce long after low price levels have been attained.

HOLD THREE BOYS ON ASSAULT CHARGE

Walter Kohl, Clarence Kohl and Otto Noack, Grand Chute, were arraigned in municipal court Tuesday morning on a charge of assault with intent to do bodily harm as result of an altercation with Louis Peters, another farmer, June 22.

Peters and the boys got into an argument over a question of farm rights. When Peters approached the boys one of them swung a hoe and fractured the man's skull so that he lay near death for several days at St. Elizabeth hospital. It is alleged.

Walter Kohl was the only boy named in the original charge, but when it was brought out that Peters did not know positively who hit him, the charge was amended to include all three youths.

Their case was set for Aug. 25, the boys being allowed to go free on a $500 joint bond.

SPANISH RECIPE FOR PAINTINGS USES SHOT, SMOKE

Business Becomes Less Lucrative, However, as Public Doubts

BY CLARENCE DU BOSE
Toledo, Spain—(AP)—A shotgun, a ham or sausage smokehouse, some broken glass, plenty of nerve, a muddy back yard and considerable skill in painting are used in the production here of "time-stained" pictures by "old masters."

The public, however, is becoming more canny, and the business is less lucrative than it used to be.

One of the producers of "old masterpieces" gave this recipe which he has used successfully for many years:

1. Get canvas of texture and weave approximating as nearly as possible that used in the period of Velasquez or El Greco or whomever you are going to "produce." Crumple and rumple it long and hard. Use it as a floor mop with your feet.

2. Paint on the now "old" canvas your copy of the master's work.

3. From a distance of forty or fifty feet shoot it with a scatter gun loaded with birdshot. This makes worm and moth holes.

4. When quite dry, take the painting from the easel, rumple it well, cracking the surface thoroughly. Scratch it some with a chunk of broken glass. Rub it with a dirty rag, or one well soaked in strong coffee.

5. If it is a religious subject, hang the picture from the mantle of any old-fashioned inn or dwelling among the hams and sausage that are being smoked in the kitchen.

6. The picture will be well seasoned, just as if by centuries of candle smoke in a church or cathedral.

"And what will you get for such a picture?" he was asked.

"All I can, of course. But it isn't much. On an average not more than twenty duros" (less than fifteen rupees) "Oh, you may find a richer tourist on a blue moon, but most customers who know exactly what they are buying."

"And still another thing: I am proud of my work. Anybody can hit a picture with a shot gun, but only a real artist can first paint that picture to look like Velasquez or Greco."

TWO CHURCHES IN CITY AFFECTED BY MERGER OF SYNODS

New Organization Unites 5,000 Congregations in Country

Two Lutheran churches in Appleton have assumed a new status as a result of the merger of the Buffalo, Iowa and Ohio synods, accomplished recently at Toledo, Ohio.

The new church organization, which has taken the name of the American Lutheran church, has accomplished the uniting of 5,000 congregations in the country, 3000 pastors and a million communicant members, according to Dr. E. Gerfen, who is filling the pulpit at Zion Lutheran church during the absence of the Rev. Theodore Marth.

The president of the American Lutheran church is Dr. C. C. Hein of Columbus, O., who will reside in Chicago. Other officials of the organization are the Rev. W. Hoessel of Milwaukee, vice president; the Rev. Mr. Prottegeer of Dubuque, Ia., second vice president; Dr. E. Poppen of Grove City, O., third vice president; and the Rev. E. Brachek of Sequin, Tex., secretary.

The Appleton churches affected by the merger are Zion Lutheran church and First English Lutheran church, both formerly of the Ohio synod. The Rev. Marth is pastor of the former and the Rev. F. C. Reuter of the latter.

Guard Religion In Young, Boston Archbishop Pleads

Boston—(AP)—Catholics who sacrifice the religion of their children "to the pure worldliness of so-called fashionable schools" today were reminded by William Cardinal O'Connell, archbishop of Boston, that the "Puritans insisted upon their children being instructed in their own faith."

Cardinal O'Connell made his address at the conclusion of a mass at the cathedral of the Holy Cross which officially opened the 45th annual convention of the Knights of Columbus. Delegates from all parts of the North American continent were present.

Assuming that the convention was being held here this year because of the local observance of the tercentenary of the Massachusetts Bay colony, Cardinal O'Connell discussed at length the early history of the colonies. He then said:

"History proves that goodness and virtue and righteousness cannot be forced on a people by statutes or by machine guns. But while we shudder at the fierce austerity of Puritan life, we would do well not to forget that luxury and wealth may lead to the

BUSINESS CAN BE GREAT FACTOR TO HELP CARIBBEAN

Diplomat Claims U. S. Industry Can Do More Than American Politics

Williamstown, Mass.—(AP)—American business has the opportunity to make a greater contribution to the welfare of Caribbean countries than the American diplomat, William Williams, Cleveland industrial authority and consultant, told the members of the Institute of Politics today.

Mr. Williams, speaking at the general conference on the United States' policy in the Caribbean area, said he sees "no possibility whatsoever of our refusing to play a vastly important part in the social and commercial as well as the political development" of the Caribbean countries.

"To deny them either the needed capital or the hoped-for diplomatic cooperation is much more hurtful to them than to us," he said. "What we can hope for is that both our business and our diplomatic representatives may not only feel the highest possible sense of responsibility and honor but, even more needed, may demonstrate a higher sensibility and respect than at present for the feelings of these people of a culture widely different from but not inherently inferior to our own."

He urged a closer study of Central American problems and a careful selection of diplomatic personnel.

GROW IN STABILITY

Dana Munro, chief of the division of Latin-American affairs of the United States Department of State, said in recent years there has been a definite trend in all of the Caribbean countries toward more stable conditions. Increasing contact with the outside world and realization of the evils of revolution, he said, are arousing a strong public demand for the settlement of political disputes by peaceful means.

"A complete and salutary change in the political atmosphere" of the Nicaraguan republic has been accomplished, he said, with the establishment of a government "unquestionably representing the majority of the people" and with prospect of a fair contest in the next election in 1932.

Support of the world court rather than establishment of courts of arbitration to settle Pan-American questions was urged by Prof. Jesse S. Reeves of the University of Michigan, at the round table conference on Pan-American problems.

In the round table conference on limitation of armaments Admiral Arthur J. Heppburn, chief of staff of the United States fleet, stated that "no country would need any other type of ship than the cruiser to perform every useful naval function against an enemy that supported no navy of its own, whatever might be its potential maritime resources in the line of a merchant marine."

He pointed out, however, that where each of the opponents has combatant ships other types are needed because "ships have always been designed to fight their own kind."

gree of recovery, although pastureage should improve.

"It must be borne in mind that from a relief point of view the burden of the problem in the acute area will show very much more vividly over the winter than at the present moment."

"I have received from all sections of the drought area high appreciation of the railways for their prompt and constructive action. It is a notable act of courageous cooperation and has been undertaken in the face of seriously reduced incomes due to the depression. It emphasizes the public interest of maintaining the strength and financial stability of our railways that they shall be able to cooperate in times of national difficulty."

"In order that there may be no failure to cover any case of distress pending the time when the states have completed their detailed organization, the Red Cross has given instructions to all their county agencies to take care of the situation."

Even before his appointment, Secretary Hyde was concentrating on the administration of the grain freight reductions with a view to precluding profiteering by persons or agencies whose benefit was not intended. He authorized agents to cancel certificates for the reduced rates in cases where these are not used to aid the farmers. Shipment of feed into drought areas must be certified by an agent to show it is destined for use in relieving drought suffering, while shipments of live stock from the stocker zones must be destined for sections where feed is available in order to secure certification.

Certificates issued on shipments moving to and from drought zones will be sent to railroad officials for final approval before establishments of the emergency zone.

A list of counties in Montana, Wyoming and Oklahoma was added to those in which emergency rates have been authorized. These include:

of the legion auxiliary has not been absolute.

"I have urged them to take advantage of the legion rule which permits a conscientious objector to refuse to participate in the religious exercises of the legion," he said today.

Several weeks ago he sent this letter to his congregation:

"I have no objection to the American legion as a civil and social organization of war veterans, nor to its patriotic and civil purposes. My opposition is aimed solely against its religious activity as stated in its principles and carried out in its practices."

"I am ready to grant communion to legion members if they refuse to participate in the prayers and other false religious exercises of the legion, and if they sever their connection with them and successfully protest against them."

"To anyone, of course, who continues to participate in these things even after we have thoroughly discussed this in accordance with the word of God, I would finally be compelled to refuse communion altogether."

flat in Chicago. He needed the money, he said, to satisfy the demands of his Chicago landlord.

Other checks made public today by Pat Roche, chief investigator for the state's attorney's office include four totaling $1,300 made to H. Finkelstein. Authorities sought a "H. Finkelstein" for questioning in connection with Zuta's slaying, a witness having pointed out Finkelstein's picture as bearing a resemblance to a member of the execution squad which slew Zuta.

Checks some eight and ten years old were found in Zuta's box, one of which was made payable to Tony Lombardo and another to Joseph D'Esposito, both since slain in the internecine strike for control of the Unione Siciliana, an organization powerful in Cook-co politics.

Among the checks was a note in favor of Zuta signed by Martin C. Mulvihill, for $500. Mulvihill was not identified by the attaches of the state's attorney's office.

EDITOR INVOLVED

The editor of the Chicago Daily News was added today to the list of persons who had financial dealings with Zuta.

Investigators called in John Craig, city editor of the News, and he identified his signature on an uncanceled check for $50.

Craig told of being accommodated by Zuta when he wanted a check cashed at an inn. "After a month or so I noticed the check did not come through the bank, so I inquired about it from Zuta. Craig said, 'He said the matter was all right. I replied that I did not do business in that way, and I gave him the cash.'"

"I asked him for my check and he said he had torn it up."

Investigators said they had been told by the bank on which the check was drawn that Craig had never had an account there. He explained that the account was in his wife's name but that the bank had honored checks he had signed.

UNCERTAIN WEATHER PREDICTED WEDNESDAY

Uncertain weather is forecast for Appleton and vicinity for the next 24 hours. In his predictions Tuesday morning, the weather man said that the weather probably will be cloudy Tuesday night and Wednesday morning, but no precipitation was reported. In the upper and lower lake regions skies were clear. Winds are shifting in the north and northeast, a fair indication that some precipitation will probably prevail before Wednesday night.

At 6 o'clock Tuesday morning the mercury registered 64 degrees above zero, while at noon it registered 80 degrees.

DEATHS

A. L. HUTCHINSON

Funeral services for A. L. Hutchinson, lifelong resident of Weyauwega, who died suddenly at his home Friday morning, were held from the residence at 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon with the Rev. S. B. Lewis in charge. Burial was in Oakwood cemetery.

He was born Jan. 25, 1859 on a small farm where the Weyauwega Chronicle office is now located in the village. He was the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Tobias Hutchinson, some of the earliest settlers of Wauwau.

In 1884 he was married to Ada Baldwin of Van Buren, who, together with their five sons, survive. The sons are Raymond, Weyauwega; Hubert, Racine; Earl, Gilroy; Carl, Alfred; Kohler, and Harold, at home.

MATHIAS BOBBER

The funeral of Mathias Bobber, who died Friday, was held at 2 o'clock Monday afternoon from the residence at 309 N. Catherine-st. Rev. E. Gerfen was in charge. Burial took place in Riverside cemetery. Bearers were Henry Simschke, John Nitzhand, John Cochaine, William Mueller, John Dietrich, and Emil Ziedler.

MRS. NANCY WOOD

The funeral of Mrs. Nancy Jane Wood, who died Monday, will be held at 4 o'clock Tuesday afternoon from the Wichmann funeral home. The Rev. E. Gerfen will officiate. The funeral cortege will leave early Wednesday morning for Eau Claire where burial will take place. There will be a short service at Eau Claire.

ESCAPES INJURY WHEN MOTOR BOAT BLOWS UP

Howard Spencer, former resident of Appleton and son of the late Judge Spencer, narrowly escaped death or serious injury a few days ago when his 35-foot raised deck cruiser blew up on the Hudson river just as he was starting on a trip with two other men. Spencer and his companions were rescued from the water by persons who saw the explosion. The men were bruised and slightly burned. The accident happened at Red Top where Spencer lives, near Poughkeepsie, N. Y.

Congressman George J. Schneider left Tuesday for Madison on official business. He is expected to return to his offices here Wednesday morning.

HELPING THE DROUGHT STATES

The governors of some 13 states have met with the president and agreed upon a program of cooperation with the farmer to relieve him from the adversities of the great drought in the mid-West. Various methods are to be employed, in which the states, the federal government and the banks and railroads join hands. Credit facilities are to be enlarged on easy terms, freight rates heavily reduced, seed supplied for next year's crops, and so on. Nothing, however, can be done to repair the damage to this season's crops, which in many localities have been almost completely ruined, and throughout the Ohio and Mississippi valley severely injured.

This agricultural disaster happens at a most inopportune time and under distressing circumstances. Efforts of the Federal Farm board to bring about a general improvement in farm conditions have been practically futile, because of world over-production and other factors which it could not control. On top of this disappointment comes the worst drought the country has suffered in years, accentuating the farm problem to the point where it demands first consideration by the federal government and by the business interests which may be in a position to render assistance.

Restoration of the great farm industry to a state of solvency and prosperity is absolutely essential to a recovery of general prosperity. It must be undertaken in conformance with sound economic laws and according to demonstrated business principles. It will be brought about in no other way. Political cure-alls put forward by economic quacks will only make bad matters worse. The situation has reached the point where the best business brains of the nation must be applied to its amelioration. The less politicians have to do with it the better for all.

In the meantime, Wisconsin may congratulate itself on the important fact that of all the agricultural states in the Union it ranks at the top in condition and outlook of crops. It has suffered some from dry weather, but nothing like the other states—even those touching it. It is pertinent to note that in all business depressions and general farm reverses Wisconsin goes through with a minimum of loss and unemployment. It probably maintains as high a general average of prosperity through all situations as any state, due primarily to superb climatic conditions, diversity of manufacturing and farming and the great and ever-growing dairy industry.

OCEAN-CROSSING DIRIGIBLES

Did you notice how much less public interest there was in the recent trans-Atlantic trip of the British dirigible R-100 than there was in the earlier voyages of Germany's Graf Zeppelin? The heroic adventure of the Britishers was fully equal to that of the Germans, but the public didn't acclaim it as such.

All this may be lamentable from the standpoint of British pride, but it is an encouraging sign to those who view the future of aviation.

For it denotes clearly that trans-Atlantic air voyages are becoming quite commonplace, and it heralds the approach of a day when such will no longer be regarded as a rash adventure, but as a definite, systematized means of commercial transportation—as much as that of steamships that now ply the ocean's waves.

The adventure of today becomes the ordinary, routine duty of tomorrow. The air pioneers lead the way in the skies, just as Columbus pioneered the way on the oceans. The fact that their daring feats soon sink to the commonplace is visible proof of the fact that their aims are fast approaching the stage of efficiency.

Such are the stepping stones of progress and so they have been since history began.

COLOR IN THE NEWS

There's a nerve-tingling thrill in the news that has been filtering out of northern India recently, like that in one of Kipling's master romances of adventure.

For the wild Pathan hillmen of the Afghan frontier country, those historic free-booters who have plied their trade around Khyber Pass for centuries, are on the warpath again. The current unrest in India and the prospects of loot have encouraged them to attack the city of Peshawar, the last British outpost in northwestern India. Several times they have been beaten off by British troops and several times they have returned. Recently, British airplanes have followed them into their native hills and bombed them from the skies.

The semi-savage Pathans are undoubtedly the most ferocious and blood-thirsty fighters on the globe. They battle with a fanatical fury, bred of the Moslem belief that the warrior who dies by the sword is assured of a place in Allah's voluptuous paradise.

Their life and mode of living has been little changed since the legions of Alexander the Great poured through the Khyber into India 2500 years ago. Civilization has not touched these wild children of the hills except to provide them with guns instead of spears or swords, as more efficient means of committing murder.

In this age, most of the news that comes across the telegraph wires is drab with the world's modern, even-tempered life and its progress in that direction. But occasionally from some far-off corner of the globe there comes a flashing bit of color, full of the thrills of romance and buried deep in the background of the world's remote and interesting past.

Such is the news from the British outposts in the Khyber hill country today. It is equally as colorful and as interesting as a Kipling novel and it gives us an added thrill when we realize that we are reading fact instead of fiction.

LABOR WARS PASSE

Here is a little news item which has probably gone unnoticed by most newspaper readers, and which some papers possibly did not consider important enough even to print: The United Mine Workers of America have ratified the new anthracite coal wage to go into effect on Sept. 1 of this year and to continue until April 1, 1936. Most of the news accounts did not mention the points of controversy in this settlement—the wages, hours and working conditions. Those things do not seem important because the owners and miners are not fighting about them.

How many readers, now, can remember without much effort when every agreement between employers and employees in this industry was reached only through long and bitter warfare—strikes and lockouts and hunger and violence and recrimination and the calling out of the militia? The most hopeful thing about this period of business depression is the evidence it brings that we seem to have outgrown the old, cruel, destructive labor wars, and are substituting for them reason, temperateness and fairness.

PERFECTION IN SLAUGHTER

French experts, studying the effects of the London naval treaty, say it will result in better navies. There will be rivalry now not in quantity, as of yore, but in quality. The powers will try to "squeeze a maximum of fighting power into a minimum of tonnage." We shall have "pocket battleships," already exemplified in a new German model, with everything that a big battleship used to have except tonnage. France is doing very well, too, in that direction. Italy is going in for "wonder cruisers." Naval rivalry might do worse than this. Let navalists turn perfectionists. As long as the art of slaughter is cultivated, by land or sea, let it seek perfection along with the other arts. When it really becomes perfect, it may kill itself.

POST WEEK and mutterings . . . people complain because we complain about Monday morning . . . if we don't say anything about it, we still mean it . . . Pollyanna is no relation of ours . . . the St. Louis flyers are down . . . they say it's because of the motor . . . their manager says it wasn't that at all . . . they weren't making any money out of it . . . well, people aren't doing things just for the glory of it any more . . . there was another kind of endurance record going on in the South Seas, though, and there wasn't much money in it . . . the crew of the Tahiti was desperately trying to keep the ship afloat . . .

With the new expose's in Chicago now being made through Zuta's records, the job of finding an honest official becomes more and more difficult. Even reform movement leaders are involved.

We'll Probably Get a Lot of These

Dear Jonah:

As poor, dear Hortense* would say:

"Three exclamation points and a comma! When I sent that money back to the Outburst I fully intended to take out five bucks as my reward, and—absent-minded like, I put the whole works in the envelope and mailed it . . . is it too late to claim the percentage?"

—Beatrice

*—Editor's note: you hypocrite—who was it who made Hortense allegedly commit suicide?

And sure it's too late to claim any percentage of the fifty bucks. It's all been used in celebrating.

Just see what Al Capone's presence—and the consequent publicity—in Florida has done. No less than fifty six people in California committed suicide last month.

A farmer in New Hampshire prefers a nice lil' snake for a pet while he tends his garden. Personally we like a couple of wild gorillas.

Bigger and better farm picnics are what we need, says Sol Levitan. Sure, Sol, it gives politicians a dandy opportunity to make speeches.

HARRISON'S BIRTH

On Aug. 20, 1832, Benjamin Harrison, soldier, orator, lawyer, author and twenty-third president of the United States was born at North Bend, O. He was a great-grandson of Benjamin Harrison, signer of the Declaration of Independence, and grandson of William Henry Harrison, ninth president of the United States.

After graduating from Miami University in 1852, Harrison studied law at Cincinnati. He practiced in Indianapolis, Ind. Entering the Union Army in 1862, he served with conspicuous gallantry in the Atlanta campaign, finally returning to civil life at the close of the war with the rank of brigadier general.

In 1881 he entered the United States Senate and seven years later was nominated for the presidency by the Republican convention and subsequently elected. His administration is characterized as "quiet, successful and measurably popular." Nominated for a second term, Harrison was defeated by Cleveland, a Democrat.

Harrison was the chief representative of the United States at the Hague conference in 1899. He lectured for a time at Leland Stanford Junior University in California. He died after a brief illness in Indianapolis in 1901.

HONEST BREAD FOR DIABETIC PATIENTS.

Our hostess partook of a little special bread at one or two meals a day. This special bread was bought at what seemed an outrageous price. But she was subject to diabetes and the bread purported to be starchless. I wanted to taste it, but I couldn't, because—well, for the same reason that I can't enjoy an expensive cigar, which is one that sets you back a nickel or even more, when a piped and good old (tobacco manufacturers please write for quotations) costs a fraction of a cent. The bread looked appetizing, at any rate.

Speaking of Foods and Diets in Diabetes, Dr. Nellis B. Foster remarks:

"Of commercial diabetic foods there is no end. A few, such as fruits preserved without added sugar, have a limited usefulness. Many of these novelties, especially the endless varieties of breads and biscuits, are at best harmless and a majority are palpable frauds. No one ever succeeded in making a bread that tastes like bread out of substitutes for flour. And there is no need now why a man should persecute himself by trying to eat a slice of some soggy, heavy, tasteless loaf in the delusion that it is the better for thus mortifying the flesh."

I must interrupt here to say that the bread our hostess had for herself was certainly not soggy or heavy; on the contrary it looked so crisp and light and crusty that I felt it was just as well not to taste it for fear I might acquire a hankering for it.

Diabetic patients who have had experience with the older methods of treatment will be curious to learn why Dr. Foster has so little use for such breads. Let him elucidate further:

"Far better for him (the diabetic) physically, and transcendently better for him mentally and morally, to eat real honest bread. Ignore the cost in starch and pay in units of insulin."

As I recollect it, our hostess said soon loaf of her previous bread set her back about as much as a patient would pay for insulin to take care of all the starch in two loaves of real bread. She was not receiving insulin. You remember what the old lady said when she kissed the cow.

Dr. Foster tells of a generous woman who, having experienced the miraculous effect of insulin, which had transformed the atmosphere of her own home, where haggling expectations and hungry suspicion had been replaced by something of content and serenity, gave a considerable sum of money to start a fund to make insulin available to the poor. (The author does not divulge any further particulars of such charity.)

There's a good work for some of our well-to-do readers to think about. Have you ever experienced any similar benefit from a remedy or treatment that cost something? Wouldn't a contribution toward the provision of the same blessing for poor people be a satisfying sort of charity for you to work? The good woman who contributed toward insulin for the poor had the great satisfaction of knowing that her money had been well intended.

The most effective charity is private, quiet charity.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS. Another Victim of Neglected Education.

I am an expectant mother. I am greatly worried about a scare I had about a mouse which crossed my path. The scare did not last long, however. I would like to know what effect this will have on my unborn child. (Mrs. R. E.)

Answer—Had you received an honest education in common school you'd laugh at this notion which is worrying you now. Makes no difference whether you are frightened by a naughty mouse or the wild galumphs of British Columbia, you're the only one who can possibly suffer any ill effects; the baby is absolutely insulated and immune against all witch's charms, evil eyes, bad wishes and hex monkeyshines.

In order to understand this you must know a little of human embryology, and by jinks no girl in our public schools will ever learn that except over the dead bodies of a lot of old fossils who control education in this country. But, soft, little mother, I didn't mean to soil you. Send a stamped envelope bearing your address, and remind me you're an expectant mother, and I'll mail you some practical instructions and advice which, I hope, will help to cheer you up in readiness for the big shindig. If expectant mothers only knew it, seeing a mouse or a seven tailed rhinoceros playing around is less likely to do them or their unborn children injury than it would be to harm any body else. An expectant mother's general endurance or immunity generally increases with the approach of the li'l stranger. Any old harpy who brings a story of how so-and-so's baby was "marked" just like that, is merely betraying her ignorance, when she is not giving vent to her jealousy and malice.

Whitfield's Ointment in Lotion Form.

Can Whitfield's ointment, which you recommend and we find so effective for ringworm of the foot or "athlete itch," be put up in the form of a lotion? (B. M. W.)

Answer—Dr. Whitfield suggested the following lotion for use in the daytime:
Benzocaine acid 1 1/2 drams
Salicylic acid 1 dram
Acetone 1 ounce
Dilute alcohol, enough to make 4 ounces.

For use at night the ointment is more effective.

Following is the formula given by Dr. Whitfield:

Benzocaine acid 25 grains
Salicylic acid 15 grains
Soft Paraffin 2 drams
Cocconut oil, enough to make 1 ounce.

The Tynmites

By Hal Cochran

THE view of Athens was a sight that thrilled each happy Tynmite. The rocky hill they stood upon towered high above the town. They stood and gazed an hour or so. Then Scouty said, "Come on, let's go. It won't be hard to reach the place 'cause we'll be traveling down."

"You're right," replied the Travel Man. "We'll get there quickly as we can, but you will find it further than you think it is, my lad. The distance doesn't look like much, but we'll hike through large farms, and such. The scenery's very pretty, though, and you all will be glad."

So down the road they hiked along and Cloway soon broke into song. "We're heading now for Athens. It's a wondrous spot," sang he. "When we are there we'll stop to eat and that will be a welcome treat. And then we'll see the sights and there are lots of sights to see."

Far down the road they met a man and up to him the Tynmites ran. "Say, who are you?" replied Coppy. "I'm a shepherd," he cried. "And then a bunch of sheep came near and of the bunch they had no fear. It seemed they all felt safe when they were at their master's side."

The bunch reached Athens about noon and for the bunch 'twas none too soon. They all were starved and promptly found a handy place to eat. They dined and then, when lunch was o'er, stepped out upon a hike once more. It wasn't long till Scouty cried, "Oh, look That's quite a feat."

"That is the Parthenon, my son. It seems repairing has been done," replied the wise old Travel Man. "It's many ages old. From other things it

Seen And Heard In New York

BY RICHARD MASSOCK

New York—They call them dumb clucks on Broadway, meaning those gorgeous creatures who ornament the shows like so much animated statuary.

But, people ask, just how dumb are show girls? Is there really as little inside their pretty heads as there's supposed to be?

There are stories of show girls reading Ibsen and Bernard Shaw and Nietzsche, but there is reason to suspect most of them are fiction, started by someone who once saw a chorus girl with a book.

If one gets around to parties he does not have to be told. For the edification of others, here are two incidents that occurred within a recent week.

MEANT WELL
A chorus girl got married last spring. Her husband as often happens, was a penniless young fellow in some minor, salaried occupation.

It was one of those love marriages and the girl, although she had to keep on dancing to support herself, was full of good intentions.

One of these was to be a housewife off-stage. Her husband probably encouraged her. Anyway, they had a few friends in for dinner at their own little nest and the girl wanted to show off her domestic capabilities.

She prepared the meal herself. In this she found the corner delicatessen a great help. But when she got around to the soup she found she had forgotten to order a can.

"That's all right," she told her husband. "We'll have tomato soup."

And she emptied a bottle of cats-up in a saucepan, mixed a cup of water with it and served it, nice and hot.

The guest who told about it said he's off tonight, sound asleep.

ABSENT MIND

The other story is told by an illustrator whose models are said by connoisseurs to be the loveliest in town.

One evening he met a girl who had not shown up for work in some time.

"Why haven't you been around?" he demanded.

"Oh, I just forgot," the girl replied nonchalantly.

"Well, then, what have you been doing?" he inquired.

"I got a job in the 'Varieties,'" the girl said.

"If that's so, why aren't you there now?" he asked.

"Oh, I forgot they had matinees," said the girl, yawning.

CALLED
Even the rich sometimes blurt, it seems.

At a literary tea a woman who likes to feel that she is a member of the artistic set, but who also is conscious of her wealth, remarked that she might visit Newport for awhile.

"I know so many people there," she said.

Whereupon a meek little author, who is not wealthy, but who has social standing, said: "So do I. Perhaps we know some of the same people." He mentioned a few names.

"Now," he said, "tell me some of those you know."

"Well," finally articulated the wealthy one, "the people I know have rented their house this season."

(The Tynmites visit a wondrous stadium in the next story.)

A BYSTANDER IN WASHINGTON

BY HERBERT PLUMMER
Washington—Random notes in a Washington Day Book:

On the third floor of a dingy old building across the street from the department sits a woman at a desk in a bare room. She is "carrying on" at a job she began many years ago. It was back in 1917—on the night that the roll of the house of representatives was called to record a vote on whether or not this country should enter the World war—that Jeanette Rankin broke into world prominence.

Then she was the first woman ever to be elected to the congress of the United States. When her name was called she could not answer. When cries of "Vote, vote" were heard in her eyes—and in a voice scarcely audible, she voted "No."

Today Jeanette Rankin feels the same way. In her little office in Washington at headquarters for the National Council for the Prevention of War she is hard at work in an effort to insure peace for this country for all time.

SAME IDEALS
The Jeanette Rankin of today in appearance is not the Jeanette Rankin of those war days.

Her hair has grown grayer, her face bears evidence of the lapse of years from the time she was in congress until now.

During the days before ratification of the London naval treaty, when the pact was before the senate committee on foreign affairs and then during the special session where it was ratified, she was a familiar figure on capitol hill.

In the committee room and from a point of vantage in the gallery in the senate chamber she was to be seen. With eagerness she watched progress of the treaty through its various stages.

She serves the National Council for the Prevention of War in the capacity of a sort of legislative secretary. It is her duty to keep an eye on legislation in which her organization is interested.

She manifests much enthusiasm for her work and the cause she represents. Those who know her as Representative Rankin from Montana and now as merely Jeanette Rankin of Missoula, Mont., say there has been no change in her ideals, thoughts and enthusiasm.

POLITICAL ADVICE TO PRESIDENT NOT OF EXPERT VARIETY

Letter of Intervention in Tennessee Primary Viewed as Mistake

BY RODNEY DUTCHER

Washington—The identity of President Hoover's closest political adviser at this time is a matter of speculation because it is so hard to keep track of them, but whoever suggested that the President jump into the Republican primary contests with his endorsement of Representative B. Carroll Reece of Tennessee is not getting credit here for any stroke of political genius.

The quality of the political advice Mr. Hoover seems to have had since his nomination has been a subject of continuous comment and the comment at the moment concerns its conspicuous failure to improve.

TAKING A FIRM POLICY

Nevertheless, some of the newspaper boys who every few weeks predict the emergence of the "real Hoover" have been saying that his intervention on behalf of Reece is only one of various attempts which the President will make to reward his friends or punish his enemies by similar methods. That doesn't sound very convincing, even though it seems difficult to explain the endorsement of Reece and its implications as an isolated incident. Mr. Hoover is not notorious for his propensity to bite off large chunks of trouble wittingly.

One of the best things a president does in campaign years is to keep his fingers out of his own party's primaries. Ordinarily he won't even intervene in an attempt to save his best friend from defeat or to place an obstacle before his worst political enemy. If he does such a thing the voters more often than not seem to take delight in telling him to go chase himself while they vote for the other fellow. On comparatively rare occasions when a candidate is directly endorsed by the president for an elective nomination the support sometimes seems to do him more harm than good.

And when a Republican is nominated and elected despite primary opposition from the White House he is sure to come here with a glint in his eye which bodes no good for anybody. The president has not only made an enemy among his own ranks in congress but he has also antagonized the winner's friends back home. The strict neutrality of the Democratic party outside the States involved in contests for re-nomination by such Smith bolters as Senators Simmons of North Carolina and Hoffman of Alabama indicates how completely this lesson has been learned by most politicians.

The President wrote Reece that he had heard Reece's opponents were charging him with opposing the interests of Tennessee in refusing to accept the Norris Muscle Shoals plan passed by the Senate and substituting a private operation plan for it. Mr. Hoover said Reece was quite right and thereby came out definitely for private operation for the first time. The implication was that Reece had been representing the White House all the way through and was now reaping his reward in the form of his unusual campaign letter. Reece's opponent, Samuel W. Price, had been attacking him hotly on the Muscle Shoals issue.

Thus, in addition to the dubious expedient of entering a primary fight, Mr. Hoover smoked himself out on his exact stand in the perennial fight between the "power trust"

SALESMAN IS ENTHUSIASTIC ABOUT KONJOLA

Aberdeen Man Glad To Tell
What New And Different
Medicine Did For Him

MR. WILLIAM J. BROWN

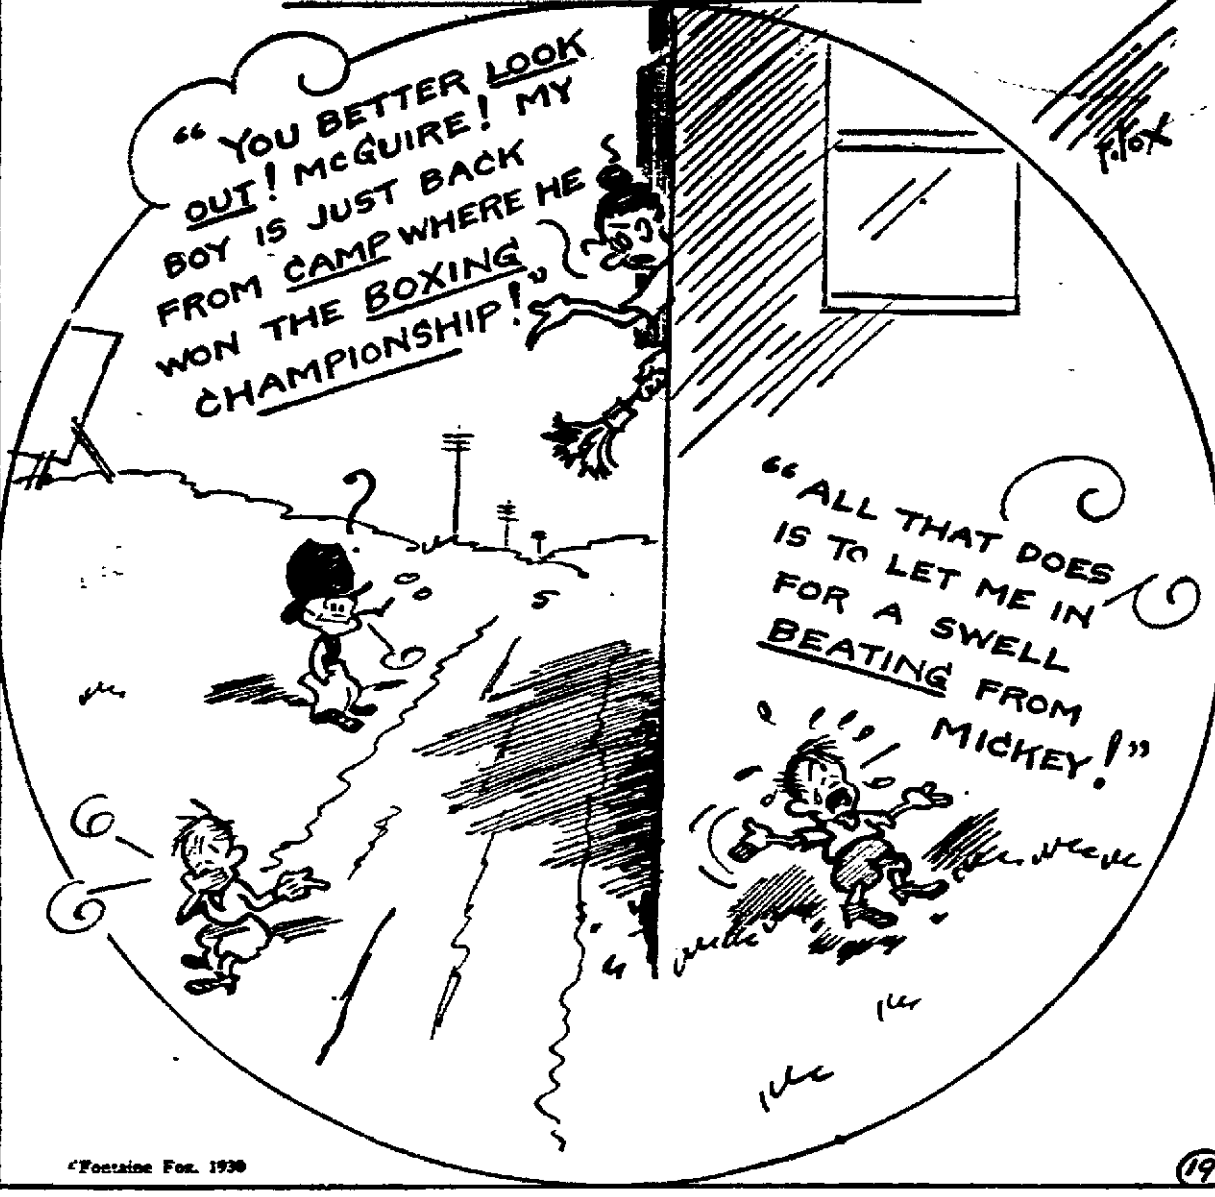

"For six years I suffered from stomach trouble, and had no desire for food," said Mr. William J. Brown 10 Twelfth avenue, Southeast, Aberdeen. "Many a time the pain was so intense that I could not operate my car. Kidney trouble was another source of trouble, and my rest was broken several times a night as a result. I had neuritis, too, in my left shoulder."

"I tried a number of medicines but none did me any good. But with Konjola the results were far beyond expectations. I began to improve while taking the first bottle. Today I am free from neuritis and my kidneys are much better. My appetite is fine and I no longer have the stomach pains nor the neuritis. I take pleasure in recommending Konjola because it has helped me so much."

Konjola's files contain thousands of endorsements telling how even the most stubborn fits of the stomach, liver, kidneys, and bowels, and rheumatism, neuritis and nervousness were conquered in from six to eight weeks by this new medicine. Konjola is sold in Appleton at Schindler's, the drug store, and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.

and the liberals of the country who seek to curb it. Up to that time he had managed to avoid being smoked out. During his campaign for election he had said Muscle Shoals was an exception to his general theory of keeping the government from further entry into the business field.

DISPLEASES THE LIBERALS

While Reece was busy choking the Senate measure in the last session he said nothing. But now he has laid himself open to attacks from all who believe that Muscle Shoals ought to be developed by the government—no small group, by any means.

It may be well that Reece will be licked. In that case the Hoover political prestige will be damaged, there will be a new anti-Hoover Republican in the House and the liberals and progressives who supported Hoover in 1928 will be still further alienated. If Mr. Hoover hadn't felt Reece was in actual danger of defeat, one supposes, he would have kept silent. Perhaps the President's letter might be described as a heroic, self-sacrificing gesture, but it hardly seems like good politics any way you look at it.

700 Register For General Church Meet

OVER 700 delegates were registered at the third general convention of Religious Education of the Evangelical church August 12 to 17 at Naperville, Ill., among them six representatives of Emanuel Evangelical church, Appleton. They were the Misses Mildred Lembecke, Rosetta Selig, Marion Cebelle, Florence and Irene Schmidt and Mrs. Louise Cebelle.

The theme of the convention was "In Quest with Christ." Each day one phase of the theme was used as the theme for the day. They were Worship, Instruction, Recreation, Service and Consecration. Quest groups held two classes every day, for high school age, college students, young people not in college, workers with children, adults, administration and seminar. Morning watch services were conducted each morning by Prof. Paul E. Keen, Evangelical Theological Seminary, Naperville, Ill., and Prof. F. N. Himmel, assistant professor and principal of the Academy of North Central College.

Bible study was led each morning by Dr. C. A. Mock, Western Union College, Le Mars, Iowa. Three general assembly periods were held during the day at which outstanding men of the Evangelical church and other churches and youth representatives gave addresses. Vesper services were held at Mt. Hill campus.

Definite recreational periods were observed each day. They included trips to Moccasin, Ill., radio station WJJD and the Morton Arboretum. Sightseeing trips to Chicago were arranged for the day after the closing of convention.

A pageant, "The Evangelical Church Goes Forward," written by Dr. R. H. Frapp, St. Cloud, Minn., was presented Saturday evening by representatives from all parts of the United States.

The next convention will be held in 1934 at Riverview Park, Cedar Falls, Iowa.

RUDY VALLEE TO PLAY IN VALLEY

Persons from not less than twenty northeastern Wisconsin counties will dance to the music of Rudy Vallee and his Connecticut Yankees orchestra when they play a five-hour dance engagement at Columbus Auditorium Thursday night of this week. Mail orders from that many counties have been received and filled at the Green Bay auditorium. Rudy's Green Bay date will be one of the only two in Wisconsin, the other dance engagement being at Milwaukee this week.

Vallee's regular Thursday night feature program over the network of the National Broadcasting Company will be presented from the Green Bay studios of WBBY at 6 o'clock, which is 8 o'clock by New York's daylight saving time. At about 8:15 the orchestra will begin its concert presentation and at 9 the dancing program will begin to continue until two o'clock Friday morning. The extended time of the engagement was arranged because of the apparent necessity of accommodating a record crowd, at the Green Bay auditorium.

PARTIES

The Rev. A. J. Martins, Hingham, Mont., and the Rev. G. H. Hietpas, Cut Bank, Mont., were guests of honor at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Geenen, Kimberly, Sunday afternoon and evening. Other guests included Miss Edith Parker, Sweet Grass, Mont.; Mrs. William Brill and son, Louis, Mrs. A. Hietpas, the Misses Dina and Minnie Geenen, William Jake, Norbert and Martin Williams, Kimberly; Martin Williams, Kimberly; and Mrs. J. J. Jabs, Oshkosh; and Mrs. William Kamke and Miss Clara Kamke, Darby.

Mrs. Charles Selig, S. River-st., entertained at a miscellaneous show Monday night at her home in honor of her daughter, Bernice, who will be married to Richard Kamke, Darby, on September 3. About 35 guests were present. Prizes at bridge were awarded to Mrs. Louis Lippert and Mrs. Joseph Hoffensperger, at schafkopf to Mrs. C. Barber, Mrs. J. Beaulieu, and Mrs. Jack Hietpas, and at dice to Miss Virginia Hietpas and Miss Clara Kamke. Out of town guests included Mrs. J. O'Connell, Milwaukee; Mrs. William Eason and Mrs. J. Jabs, Oshkosh; and Mrs. William Kamke and Miss Clara Kamke, Darby.

A family picnic was held at Crystal Lake Friday, a picnic dinner being served at noon. The afternoon was spent informally. Those present included Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Ciske and family, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Helm, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Lunika, Sherwood; Mr. and Mrs. Anton Lunika, Darby.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Douglas, town of Center, were surprised Saturday evening, at their home in honor of their eighth wedding anniversary. About 65 relatives and friends from Appleton, Kimberly, Neenah, Black Creek, Medina, Center, and Stephensville were present. Games and dancing provided the entertainment. Mr. and Mrs. Douglas were presented with many gifts.

LODGE NEWS

J. Craig, past grand master from Superior, spoke at the meeting of Konomie lodge, Order of Odd Fellows Monday evening. A discussion of the district meeting to be held in Oshkosh in September was held. About 30 members were present.

The final report of the children's picnic which was held recently will be given by Elmer Koerner, chairman, at the meeting of Fraternal Order of Eagles at 8 o'clock Wednesday night at Eagle hall. Other business will be transacted.

Ladies Auxiliary of Eagles will hold a social meeting at 8:30 Wednesday afternoon at Eagle hall. Schafkopf and dice will be played.

Deborah Rebekah lodge will meet at 7:45 Wednesday evening at Odd Fellows hall. Regular business will be transacted.

Wide brims will be smart this fall as shown by this characteristic Patou model in brown felt with its wide, a symmetric brim. The crown is trimmed in brown chenille and the hat worn well back on the forehead.

WOMEN PLAY GOLF, BRIDGE AT GOLF CLUB

Mrs. August Brandt will have charge of the weekly golf tournament for women at Butte des Morts Golf club Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. R. B. Brandt will be flower chairman and Mrs. Bert Dutcher will have charge of bridge.

The women's club championship match will be played August 27 and 28. Play will be in flights and prizes will be awarded the winners of each flight and the runners up. Qualifying rounds in the various flights will be played August 27 and match play will take place in the morning of August 28. Prizes will be awarded in the afternoon.

WEDDINGS

The marriage of Miss Amelia Fischer, daughter of Wenzel Fischer, to George Alger, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Alger, West De Pere, took place at 8:30 Tuesday morning at St. Joseph church. The altar was banked in palms and flowers. Miss Cecilia Fischer, sister of the bride, was maid of honor and Clarence Fischer acted as best man. Henry Jacobs, West De Pere, and Sylvester Fischer, Appleton, were ushers. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Thomas C. Alger, O. Praem., of St. Norbert college, De Pere, a brother of the bridegroom. He was assisted by the Rev. M. R. DeLong, O. Praem., De Pere, as deacon, and the Rev. R. P. Wagner, Marinette, as sub deacon.

A wedding dinner was served at the home of the bride's father to members of the immediate families. After a tour through northern Wisconsin and points east, Mr. and Mrs. Alger will reside at Reid-st., West De Pere, where the bridegroom is employed.

Miss Elsie Thomas, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Archie Thomas, 1209 W. Eighth-st., and Edward J. Dietrich, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Dietrich, 4417 S. Law-st., were married at 8 o'clock Tuesday morning at St. Mary church. The bride was attended by the Misses Florence Thomas and Monica Dietrich, and Kenneth Dietrich and Simon Konitzer attended the bridegroom. Marion Thomas acted as veil carrier. A wedding dinner was served at the Dietrich home to about 50 guests, and supper will be served to the same number. After a week's trip through northern Wisconsin and Illinois, Mr. and Mrs. Dietrich will reside at 1820 W. Franklin-st.

Miss Margaret Casper, daughter of Mrs. John Casper, 303 E. Lincoln-st., Milwaukee; Mrs. Marion Casper and Lawrence Casper, Appleton. A wedding dinner and supper were served at the home of the bride's parents to about 35 guests. Mr. and Mrs. Brill left on a trip to Denver, Colo., Wyoming, and other western points, to be gone for two weeks. On their return they will make their home on S. River-st. Out of town guests at the wedding included Mr. and Mrs. Edward Brill, Herrert and George Brill, Milwaukee; Mrs. John Wolf and daughters, Lucille and Marie, Kaukauna; Mrs. John Kuettler and Mrs. George Probst, Sherwood.

Mr. and Mrs. William Brandt, 1603 Spencer-st., have announced the marriage of their daughter, Helen, to Alvin Roehl, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Roehl, route 2, Appleton, which took place Aug. 14 at Crystal Lake, Ill. The couple will make their home in Appleton.

CHURCH SOCIETIES

Hostesses will be Mrs. Anna Oudenhoven, Mrs. Anna Balk, Mrs. Anna Beyer, Mrs. Helen Belling, and Mrs. Myrtle Belling. The entertainment committee includes Mrs. Lillian Schulz and Mrs. Elida Tock.

A social meeting of Zion Lutheran Young People's society of Zion Lutheran church took place Monday night at the school auditorium. The committee in charge of arrangements included Miss Anita Boese, chairman; Miss Florence Schaefer, Miss Mildred Radtke, and Wilfred Tock.

The Young Women's Missionary society of St. Paul English Lutheran church, Neenah, will meet at 7:30 Tuesday evening with Mrs. Herbert Tews at her summer cottage on the lake shore. The lesson topic, "Migrants," will be led by Miss Ruth Larsen and Mrs. Paul Zemke will be assistant hostess.

Sunday school teachers of Mount Olive Lutheran church will meet in the church parlors at 7 o'clock Tuesday evening. Student problems will be discussed.

ENGAGEMENTS

The Rev. and Mrs. M. Alpert, 722 Independence-blvd., Chicago, have announced the engagement of their daughter, Florence, to Samuel M. Shapiro, son of Mr. and Mrs. Mayer Shapiro, 721 N. Rankin-st. No date has been set for the wedding.

Have You Heard—

One of the newest wall decorations is a panel of handblock printed linen, or a bit of fine kumstarn work.

framed in a narrow wood frame, in black or in the color of your woodwork.

Over the mantel, over the day-port or behind a table or console, one of these colorful panels makes a beautiful picture.

The lovely thing about this decoration is that it costs so much less than a really good painting and adds so valuable.

OUTLINE PLANS FOR PICNIC OF CHOIR MEMBERS

Plans for the annual picnic for choir members and ushers of St. Joseph church which will be held Sunday at Red Banks, near Fremont, were made at the committee meeting Monday night at the parish hall. The members will leave at 9 o'clock Sunday morning from St. Joseph hall and remain at Red Banks all day.

Several committees were appointed to take care of the event. Prof. A. J. Theiss will be chairman of the luncheon committee, Joseph Haag will have charge of transportation, and the entertainment committee includes Eugene Dachelet, chairman; George Haag, and Miss Adeline Haag. Each one attending will bring a cup. All those who plan to go are to notify Professor Theiss.

My Neighbor Says--

Save all fruit parings. Put on to boil with water to cover for 10 to 15 minutes and then strain. These juices make a foundation for delicious fruit drinks.

Salt meats, such as ham, tongue and beef, which are to be boiled, should be put in cold water and allowed to heat slowly.

To remove the shell of an egg quickly after it has boiled the required time, place it in a basin of cold water for two seconds and the shell will come off without difficulty.

Large sheets that have become worn in the middle should be torn in halves and what were the two outer edges joined together. The shabby part, which is now the outside, should then be trimmed away and the raw edges neatly hemmed.

CARD PARTIES

Six tables were in play at the weekly skat tournament Monday night at Elk hall. Prizes were awarded to Louis Keller, Dr. V. F. Marshall, and Robert Stammer.

Princess Lines

A youthful model of printed cotton voile of princess lines, is shown at the front of the bodice to create a softened line.

The skirt is cut in gores so as to concentrate the fullness at either side of the front and at either side of the back. It is decidedly graceful and slimming.

Style No. 2645 may be had in sizes 14, 16, 18, 20 years, 36, 38, 40 and 42 inches bust.

It is amazingly simple to make. No. 2645 size 36-43 yards 39-inch material and 1 yard 12 inch ribbon.

It desired, it may be made sleeveless. The softly falling cape collar covers the arms sufficiently to make it quite appropriate for town as well as resort.

Chiffon, crepe silk, printed batiste, dotted swiss and printed sheer linen are very attractive for this model of chic femininity.

The Story of Sue

by MARGERY HALE

© 1929 BY NEA SERVICE, INC.

SHE excused herself from her party and started across the floor. She had caught sight of Corrinne's impish, dark eyes and daring red mouth for just a second, another group of night revelers passed the door. She could hear their voices and laughter as they went across the house to another dining room. What right had Corrinne to be here, she asked herself? This group sounded like her sister's old high school gang. Corrinne didn't belong to them now. She was married. She had a husband. But evidently she had slipped away. Yet she said that she loved Harry.

At the door of the room Sue met June Walton, accompanied by two high school youths who warbled disconnected snatches of popular melodies and clung to the girl's arms. June stopped, surprised.

"Oh, hello, Sue. Did you want Corrinne? I'll call her."

"Sure, we'll all call Corrinne. Now, together, one, two, three..." One of the boys with June prepared to lead a yell but Sue stopped him quickly, slipping a hand over his mouth.

"Don't! Tell her to come quietly, and right away, please."

"What's the matter?" the other boy asked. "Did your boy friend turn wild and you need Corrinne's protection? Better let her take him over!"

June had disappeared and she came back, followed by Corrinne.

"All right children. Vanish. I'm talking to my older sister," Corrinne addressed them. Then she turned back to Sue. "You look like an angel in the velvet, Sue, but there's fire in your eyes. Now what's the program? Do you want us to come sit at your table? I wouldn't mind a bit. I'm about fed up on this business. Who all are with you?"

Sue recited the names. "I think you are safer where you are. Tongues would gossip if it was discovered that you were here with Bob..."

"Oh-h-h" Corrinne said it softly, almost as though she enjoyed the prospect. "You're worried about me, aren't you Sue? You think I ought to be always in my place with a fluttering pulse when my husband comes up the walk... Modeling on my grandmother. But remember, Sue, my grand mother never saw any other men—except at church. Of course her heart did acrobatics for the one and only. The poor thing didn't even have the electric light man to read the meter or the milkman. She had lamps and kept cows."

Sue smiled in spite of herself. "It was a nice sermon, Corrinne. I caught the point. You want to postpone the day of judgment. But you've got to get out of here. You're married."

"I know I am. That's why I'm here. I'm chaperoning." She still laughed.

"But you never had chaperones before."

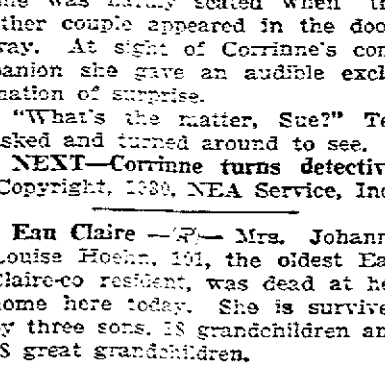

"We have to, now that I'm married. It's the only way I can come along. Those fatal words of mine improved our respect for the conventions. Sue. However, if you'll wait a minute the baritone in my evening dress will come and sit at your table. These children are used to being alone."

Sue went back to the dining room. She was hardly seated when the other couple appeared in the doorway. At sight of Corrinne's companion she gave an audible exclamation of surprise.

"What's the matter, Sue?" Ted asked and turned around to see.

HEARSAY—COWARD, THIEF AND HOUSEBREAKER

"Dear Betty Brainerd: What shall I do? I am so miserable. I like a boy who my family and friends tell me is not worthy of me."

"His brothers and his father have a bad reputation for drinking. Although this boy is the only one in the family who does not drink, he has a bad reputation because of his father and brothers."

"I know he loves me. He would do anything in the world for me, as he has told me many times. When I am with him I imagine I don't like him at all. But when I am away from him I can't wait until I see him again."

"I do not drink and neither do my parents. My parents are not kindly disposed toward this boy—particularly my mother, because of their friends tell her about his family."

"I have spoken to my boy friend about what people say but he just shuts up like a clam and says he won't discuss his family with anyone. I think this is admirable of him but it hurts me the way people talk. Please advise me whether I should give him up."

Congratulate yourself on knowing a boy who possesses singular strength of character—and cultivate the friendship.

Virtue, which has never resisted temptation, remains yet to be proven.

If this boy can withstand the influence of every other member of his family, together with the unthinking, unkindly criticism of acquaintances and neighbors, the future will hold few obstacles he cannot surmount.

The standards your boy friend has chosen to adhere to now will scarcely be lowered by the added wisdom and discernment which years and experience will bring to him.

It is a strange quirk of human nature—perhaps a throwback to the primitive—this tendency of ours to do everything in our power to down a gallant fighter.

And then, when he wins in spite of our backbiting and criticisms—we cheer him who needs no cheering!

You feel assured of this boy's sincerity.

You are confident that he would "do anything in the world" for you. You think he is admirable the way he sticks up for his family.

You know that he is not weak. And yet you question the advisability of associating with him! Learn to set your own standards of values.

Judge—not according to hearsay, which may be founded upon jealousy or viciousness—but by the truth as you yourself have found it.

Who knows in what direction the crowd is going? It may be stampeded over a cliff. Step aside, and follow your own vision.

SINCLAIR AIMS AT BILLION DOLLAR OIL ORGANIZATION

Missouri Securities Chartered to Hold Block of Tide Water

BY PRESTON S. KRECHER
Copyright, 1930, by Cons. Press
New York—(CPA)—New moves in the plans of Harry F. Sinclair and associates to form a billion dollar oil company, rivaling in size the great Standard Oil organizations, are indicated in news from the Pacific coast that the Mission Securities company has been chartered under the laws of Nevada to hold the entire block of more than one million shares of Tide Water Associated Oil stock recently purchased by Ramerica-Blair interests from the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey.

Merger negotiations have been conducted between Sinclair Consolidated and Tide Water Associated Oil for several months but no far have not resulted in any definite agreement because of inability to come to terms. Tide water associated has been an elephant on the hands of the Blair banking group ever since the company was organized in 1926 to merge the Tide Water Oil and Associated Oil companies. Now the properties are desired by Harry F. Sinclair to give him a foothold on the Pacific coast and to round out an organization which eventually also is expected to include the Prairie Oil and Gas Co. and the Prairie Pipe Line Co.

SINCLAIR COMES BACK
Some talks thought that after Harry F. Sinclair was found guilty of contempt in the United States senate's investigations of the oil scandals a few years ago he was through with the oil industry. Mr. Sinclair however, returned to business determined to stage a comeback and he now bids fair to make good. Recognized as an unusually astute oil man, he has laid his plans with care. His recent sale of his 50 per cent interest in the Sinclair Crude Oil Purchasing company and the Sinclair Pipe Line company, founded by himself and his friend Col. Robert W. Stewart, for $72,500,000 cash, was one of the steps in carrying out his ambitious program. His next proposed step is to take over the Prairie company.

There is no doubt whatever that a deal for acquisition of the Prairie properties would have been consummated long ago but for the unusual laws of Kansas which stipulate that in the case of corporations holding Kansas charters 100 per cent consent of stockholders is necessary to complete the sale of their property to another company. So far Mr. Sinclair and his associates have found no practical way of meeting that requirement since they realize that a handful of obstinate stockholders could block a deal.

Despite this formidable obstacle Mr. Sinclair has not by any means given up his cherished project. Selling for Europe the other day, he said that the acquisition of the Prairie properties was still under negotiation.

One possible obstacle to consummation of the purchase of the Prairie companies was removed about two years ago when the Rockefeller Philanthropies, the General Education board and the Rockefeller Foundation sold their holdings of Prairie stock to the Blair banking group of New York, which since has been consolidated with the Ramerica Corporation, a Cincinnati enterprise. As a result of that deal the Blair group, which have been Sinclair's backers for years, now hold large interests in the three large oil companies which he seeks to combine with the Sinclair Consolidated Oil company.

A large block of stock of the Tide Water Associated Oil company is owned by the First National bank crowd of New York of which George F. Baker, multimillionaire, is the head. It also is understood that when the Rockefeller corporations sold their interest in the Prairie companies John D. Rockefeller did not part with his personal investments in those companies. As an outcome Mr. Sinclair may be compelled to win over those powerful interests to his plan. The task might discourage any other man perhaps but Sinclair himself.

LIVESTOCK MEN WIN POINT FOR BETTER PRICES

Approve Proposed Contracts Between Federation, Shippers

Madison—(P)—Wisconsin livestock producers gained momentum in their drive for better prices through cooperative efforts here yesterday when they expressed approval of the proposed contracts between shipping organizations and the recently formed Wisconsin Livestock Marketing Federation.

About 50 representatives of shipping associations from all parts of the state attended the meeting at the state capitol which was called by the department of agriculture and markets.

R. A. Peterson, director of cooperative marketing in the department of agriculture and markets, presided at the meeting. Presenting a committee's report on the proposed contract arrangement, Peterson stressed the need for strengthening local shipping associations and the necessity of consigning livestock through cooperative agencies affiliated with the National Livestock Marketing association as set up by the federal farm board.

By the terms of the proposed contracts, which would run for three years, the federation agrees to assign the organization of cooperative livestock marketing associations eligible to affiliation with the federation; to encourage better and more economical methods in the production and distribution of livestock products; to act as agent for the associations to effect better relations with cooperative terminal marketing agencies; to act as agent and mediator in the settlement of claims against transportation companies; to study marketing and disseminate knowledge among members of the federation to effect better prices.

The association, in turn, would agree to assist in organizing other livestock shipping associations; to sell its livestock through terminal cooperative agencies unless the majority designate some other agency; to keep the federation advised as to livestock conditions in the trade area served by the association; to cooperate with the federation in bringing about better terminal facilities and cheaper and better transportation facilities; to pay into the federation fund to exceed 50 cents per car, payable quarterly, to enable the federation to carry out its work.

The proposed contracts will take effect as soon as 50 or more shipping associations agree to enter the arrangement with the federation.

FARMER AT SHORT END OF PRICE CUTS

local and sporadic and must be checked by action of the authorities of states and cities.

At the White House it was similarly stated that no instances of criminal conspiracies for the advancing of prices in consequence of the popular apprehensions caused by the drought had been reported to the federal government either by private citizens or by its own investigating agents and that accordingly the department of justice had found no opportunity for calling into operation the anti-trust penal provisions of the Sherman law and the Clayton law. The department, it was pointed out, can deal with price advance conspiracies set in motion by traders but it cannot deal in any way with spontaneous individual price advances made by retail merchants in response to excessive panic buying by housewives and other customers. In the opinion of the federal authorities there continues to be no justification for any such buying.

DIFFER ON TARIFF

The federal reports on the declines of prices of farm products and of foods from June 15 to July 15 covered the first month of the operation of the new tariff law and drew forth conflicting comments from political party leaders. Republican leaders held that the declines would have been greater had it not been for the restraining influence of the tariff duties. Democratic leaders held that the influence of the new law was toward excessively high prices but that the general errors of statesmanship by the administration had quivered this influence and had made it possible for a business

BUILDING REVIVAL DEPENDS ON SOUND CREDIT POLICIES

Authorities Differ, However, Over Best Course to Follow

BY J. C. MOYLE
Copyright, 1930, by Cons. Press

Washington—(CPA)—The revival of the construction of homes and apartments is declared by financiers, contractors, promoters and government officials alike to depend on sound credit policies. But all these authorities seem to differ to some extent as to what constitute sound credit policies in building construction.

The financiers declare that policies must involve decided conservatism as compared with these in effect when expansion in all lines was at its height a year ago. The borrower must now show, they say, that the building is needed, that he is highly responsible, that he is able to carry through his project and that the loan will be repaid or amortized in a short time.

The builders and borrowers, on the other hand, declare that while the banks have ample money to loan for building purposes they are willing to loan it only to those in a position to pay that they do not need the loan.

The constructions assert that now is the time for the banks to relax their restrictions, loan money freely and make the terms advantageous for the borrowers, who in turn are thus able to make favorable terms with home owners and thus stimulate building.

SEE BOTH SIDES

Independent observers hold that each is partly right. There is small doubt that the material markets are advantageous for home building and that property prices are such that land may be bought profitably. Labor is plentiful and labor costs are down a trifle. But before home building can get a real start, the public must be inspired to desire to build homes and apparently that inspiration is temporarily lacking.

It is to settle the question of what is wrong that President Hoover has appointed his building commission.

Residential building, according to reports of the American federation of Labor has not commenced to increase as has public work construction. There is a general drop of 10 per cent as compared with last year but housing shortages are beginning to be noticed. Strong efforts are being made to keep wages in construction lines up to 1929 levels. Appeals are being made to employ workmen instead of hiring new comers willing to work for less. In some districts, master workmen are reported willing to work as helpers in order to secure jobs.

State officials are making efforts to secure that only local workers are employed on state and municipal projects.

It is generally admitted that any definite improvement in general business may serve to aid conditions in the construction lines. Such an upturn is anticipated by or before autumn, but construction men do not want to wait for this upturn. There has been a comparatively long period of residential building cessation. This has been accompanied by a drop in the construction men's desire to see the turn come before rents are raised to any large extent and before space costs rise above their present levels.

There seems to be no oversupply of individual homes and if the financiers and the construction men can agree on a policy of financing, the revival may come sooner than anticipated. Low interest rates and activity in municipal bonds have stimulated municipal borrowing for road building and the effects of such expenditures will aid in reviving other forms of construction. It is felt.

RACINE LEGION POST WINS COOPER TROPHY

Sheboygan—(P)—The Cooper Trophy for the most outstanding piece of boy work done by American Legion posts in Wisconsin was awarded to Racine Post, No. 76 at the state convention of the American Legion here today.

The Racine post gained the trophy mainly for enlarging the pre-school health work in Racine. The committee making the award also pointed out that due to efforts of the post, the active membership of the Racine Boy Scouts had increased from 375 to more than 700.

Other statements of the Racine post which were noted by the winning of the trophy were establishment of a "boys week" sponsored by a model aviation meet for boys organization of a speakers' team of 30 members; presentation of gold medals to three high schools and the organization of football and basketball teams among the youth of the city.

New York—(P)—Western dancing orchestra leader is to marry Margaret Ekblad, beauty contest winner. "He certainly is attractive," says she.

depression to occur and for prices to sink to a level excessively low. Both parties wanted to keep prices small upward movements of prices recorded by private agencies during the weeks subsequent to the period covered by the government reports and prepared themselves for appropriate political explanations.

The private agencies stated that this week begins with the wholesale prices of all commodities, raised and averaged together at a level approximately 1 per cent higher than a week ago. Some federal authorities see in this rise only a seasonal or otherwise transitory phenomenon. Others see in it the idea that the bottom of the depression has been reached and that prices are getting stabilized. They hold that the drought is no sound economic excuse for higher prices but that the psychological fear of a severe shortage about to be caused by the drought may have turned the tide of prices upward and that the drought may accordingly, though without justification, mark the beginning of the end of further price depression.

Mother Oyster Lays Total Of Half Billion Eggs Year

New York—(P)—Heroic efforts of the Atlantic coast oyster to preserve her race were described today. She produces from 15 million to 115 million eggs during one spawning season, lasting from 36 to 70 minutes. Since each oyster may spawn five or six times during a single season, the annual egg production of a single oyster may approximate half a billion.

The feat was reported to a gathering of biologists of international repute, civic, state and federal health authorities and shellfish commissioners from several states at the convention of the National Association of Shellfish Commissioners and the Oyster Growers and Dealers Association of North America, Inc.

It was cited by Dr. P. S. Galtsoff of the U. S. Bureau of Fisheries as a mere commonplace in the life of an oyster. Even the poorest layers, he said, set down an average of 15,000,000 eggs in about an hour, or 150,000,000 a year. One purpose of the

TOM THUMB HELPS TO SWELL RANKS OF REGULAR GOLFERS

Public Links Courses More Crowded Than Ever Now. It Seems

BY BEN G. KLINE
Copyright, 1930, by Cons. Press

San Francisco—(CPA)—Public links golf players, those hardy individuals who arise at 2 and 3 o'clock Sunday mornings to wait sleepily in line and sign up for their turn to tee off later in the day, are distinctly not benefiting from the present craze over miniature, or peewee, "golf." Managers of real commercial golf courses, club and ball manufacturers and professional instructors are benefiting from the craze, or fad, or curse, or pest, or whatever one personally likes to call it, so there is a law of compensation.

Inquiries in various sources hereabouts close to the great pastime of whacking "ten out" discs that 19 hole layouts on city lots are attracting few golf players, but are building up ambitions to become golf players in many mainly, womanly and youthful breasts.

"Are the peewee courses keeping them off fairways?" Repeated a starter at Harding park, one of San Francisco's two municipal courses. "Not a's you could notice it. Even since schools have resumed and taken teachers and pupils back to classes players have been having to wait about an hour every afternoon on weekdays."

State officials are making efforts to secure that only local workers are employed on state and municipal projects.

GRADUATE PLAYERS

Sports goods retailers say that they daily outfit new recruits for the mansize game who got their first taste of putting on the townlet felt and cottonseed runways. Their statements are confirmed at the public courses. Not only is the opinion unanimous that the miniatures are graduating players to the longer and broader fairways, but one well informed dealer in golf tools estimates that not over 2 or 3 per cent of the peewee habitues are real golfers. Fairway addicts who do play the Tom Thumbs do so, it is said, merely for the pastime and with no mistaken idea that it improves their game.

Golf equipment of all sorts has been selling briskly even during the Depression year, but hereabouts there has developed a real shortage of putters—not "good putters," the human kind, which probably will always exist, but putting implements. Unexpected orders for a hundred or two hundred putters when the peewee epidemic breaks out in new quarters depletes the stocks of even large distributors. Most of the putters for vacant lot use are of the cheapest grades, but a trend toward high priced clubs for the more accurate peewee layouts is developing.

Perhaps after all they are going to try to convince the player of peewee golf that practice on the miniature will "improve your short game."

meeting was to learn why so few of these myriad oysters reach dining tables.

One reason is that other epicures besides humans like their oysters. The starfish, for instance. But remedy for starfish depredation has been found, Miss Louise Palmer of the U. S. Bureau of Fisheries said. It is a copper sulphate dissolved in bags over the oysterbeds at the beginning of flood tide. She said as little as 15 ounces in 2,000 gallons of water kills adult starfish in a few minutes.

Although oysters are now taboo for human consumption during the four months without the traditional letter "R," science has found a way and summer oysters were predicted by J. M. Lemon, of the U. S. Bureau of Fisheries.

"It has been demonstrated," he said, "that oysters can be rapidly frozen and placed in storage for several months without any detrimental effects upon the taste, color, digestibility and food value."

Lemon said a survey in 14 widely separated oyster beds of the Rockies showed average oyster oyster consumption annually is 22 pounds, and that they are eaten mostly in stew.

Dr. Thurston C. Nelson, professor of Zoology at Rutgers University, said the survey can be increased by observing the times when the number of oyster shells in the water was large just before the tide comes for them to attach to shells where they grow into adult oysters. Planting shells just before the attaching time, where there is little chance for the shells to foul, results in sets of greater value.

In order to attach to a shell the baby oyster must have a little copper in the water. H. F. Pythorn of the U. S. Bureau of Fisheries explained. The amount of copper is small, one part copper to 100 parts sea water, but without it the baby can't attach. Copper tins waste thrown into the water is useless, he said, for it is too much and kills the oysters. The used kind of copper is carried into the sea by rivers.

MEDICO-LEGAL GROUP SEES CORONER AS ANOMALY WITHIN LAW

Chicago—(P)—The medico-legal committee of the American Bar association, in its report presented to the criminal law section today, said the coroner is an anomalous place in the administration of our law.

"No doubt the coroner has served and is still serving a useful purpose," the committee said. "Science, medicine, however, was not known when the office was established. Today, science is given an opportunity, too much to contribute on the problems which come to that office."

The committee, headed by Dean A. J. Harbo of the University of Illinois Law school, further reported that the "sterilization of mental defectives is worthy of study but so-called reformers have made it unpopular for investigation at the present time."

The report added however that "there appears to be no convincing evidence that sterilization of criminals is like" to produce substantial results."

ARCTIC PATROL SHIP GRIPPED FAST BY ICE

North Sydney, N. CORRECT PLAN FIRST STEP IN HEATING

Only Specialists Authorized to Install the Steel-riveted and Gas-tight Lennox Torrid Zone Furnace

Proper planning and installation is absolutely necessary if your furnace is to perform satisfactorily. Every home presents a different problem. Every door and window means lost heat. The construction of your house, the location and exposure, must also be considered. Accurate formulas governing pipe sizes and furnace capacities have been developed through years of experimental work at the University of Illinois, resulting in what is known as the Standard Code of the National Warm Air Heating Association. Torrid Zone dealers are authorized according to these formulas—and are granted the franchise solely on their ability to follow the scientific principles of the standard code.

On proper installation the Lennox Torrid Zone furnace guarantees to replace any part of the Torrid Zone, except grates or liners, if it wears out within ten years from date of purchase. The average life, however, based on actual service records, is 21 years.

GRADY ATTACKS CAMPAIGN COSTS

Elect LaFollette Governor, He Urges in Address Over Radio

Milwaukee—(P)—The chief issue in the forthcoming primary campaign is "whether or not the people of Wisconsin shall place the stamp of approval on the vulgar expenditure of money which characterized the election of 1928," in the opinion of Daniel H. Grady, special prosecutor in the first John Doe hearings into the 1928 campaign.

Speaking last night over station WTMJ, Mr. Grady delivered a stinging attack on the methods used by supporters of Gov. Walter J. Kohler. He urged election of Philip LaFollette.

The Kohler campaign, he said, was characterized by the wildest expenditures of money, in its brazen execution and its colossal scope has had no parallel in the political history of the state.

"It is not denied that Mr. Kohler himself proposed the expenditure of $2,000,000, or more than six times the amount limited by law; that the chairman and secretary of the state committee appointed with his consent and approval for the purpose of managing the campaign, declared in its presence that a campaign of the character designed could not be conducted for less than $50,000 that he was told at the same conference by George Vits that it could not be conducted for less than $100,000; that Mr. Kohler placed the amount on the amount to be expended by this and other committees as reported in less than one-fourth of the cost of this state, even as $1,000,000 or 25 times the amount authorized by law."

He said Kohler had manifested utter disregard of the mandate of a constitution, and called it a "traison of official duty."

"It means," he said, "whether the proposition and the project of two years with which man who means the sounding of the death knell of the political history of the state."

SEE TREMPPEALEAU FAIR

Galesville—(P)—Three of the five Galesville residents who attended the first Trempealeau-co fair here in 1899 will take part in the annual exposition, here this week. Former Senator E. F. Clark, 80, Mrs. Mary Douglas Arnold, 82, and August A. Black, 87, were all present when the Trempealeau county agricultural society held its first show on a little clearing in the center of the newly settled town. Of the three E. F. Clark holds the record for attendance, having missed but one fair in the seventy-two years of its existence.

He conducted for less than $50,000 that he was told at the same conference by George Vits that it could not be conducted for less than $100,000; that Mr. Kohler placed the amount on the amount to be expended by this and other committees as reported in less than one-fourth of the cost of this state, even as $1,000,000 or 25 times the amount authorized by law."

"It means," he said, "whether the proposition and the project of two years with which man who means the sounding of the death knell of the political history of the state."

meeting was to learn why so few of these myriad oysters reach dining tables.

One reason is that other epicures besides humans like their oysters. The starfish, for instance. But remedy for starfish depredation has been found, Miss Louise Palmer of the U. S. Bureau of Fisheries said. It is a copper sulphate dissolved in bags over the oysterbeds at the beginning of flood tide. She said as little as 15 ounces in 2,000 gallons of water kills adult starfish in a few minutes.

Although oysters are now taboo for human consumption during the four months without the traditional letter "R," science has found a way and summer oysters were predicted by J. M. Lemon, of the U. S. Bureau of Fisheries.

"It has been demonstrated," he said, "that oysters can be rapidly frozen and placed in storage for several months without any detrimental effects upon the taste, color, digestibility and food value."

Lemon said a survey in 14 widely separated oyster beds of the Rockies showed average oyster oyster consumption annually is 22 pounds, and that they are eaten mostly in stew.

Dr. Thurston C. Nelson, professor of Zoology at Rutgers University, said the survey can be increased by observing the times when the number of oyster shells in the water was large just before the tide comes for them to attach to shells where they grow into adult oysters. Planting shells just before the attaching time, where there is little chance for the shells to foul, results in sets of greater value.

In order to attach to a shell the baby oyster must have a little copper in the water. H. F. Pythorn of the U. S. Bureau of Fisheries explained. The amount of copper is small, one part copper to 100 parts sea water, but without it the baby can't attach. Copper tins waste thrown into the water is useless, he said, for it is too much and kills the oysters. The used kind of copper is carried into the sea by rivers.

The committee, headed by Dean A. J. Harbo of the University of Illinois Law school, further reported that the "sterilization of mental defectives is worthy of study but so-called reformers have made it unpopular for investigation at the present time."

The report added however that "there appears to be no convincing evidence that sterilization of criminals is like" to produce substantial results."

COUNCIL ORDERS STREET REOPENED, FENCE TORN DOWN

Green-st Cut Off Without Aldermen's Knowledge, It Appears

Neenah—The city council Monday evening discussed proposal of property owners on Green-st to cut off part of that street east of Sixth-st for their own use. A sketch of the plan was presented by the city engineer. Alderman Hans Rasmussen said he had heard that one of the property owners claimed he had permission to close the street. The council ordered the street reopened and the fence which the property owner had erected removed.

A few meetings ago, construction of a walk from the city limits west to the cemetery was discussed and left with city attorney, John O'Leary to take before the town of Neenah board in an effort to get its assistance in constructing half of the walk. The attorney reported that he had met with the town president, who stated the matter would be taken up with the people in his township. The attorney also reported the city could not spend money to put in a walk outside the city limits and charge same to the city.

The had conducted of Forest-ave pavement was discussed. It was decided to fill up holes in the pavement until a new pavement is laid within the next two years. Alderman Robert Marten asked what had become of the proposal to open up Third-ave across the Soo line tracks. The board of public works, he was told, will bring the matter before the city council. President of the council, William Schmidt, claimed he was not in favor of extending the street across seven dangerous tracks.

Alderman Marten claimed the extension is a necessity to traffic and should be opened. The matter was left in the hands of the board of public works.

HOOVER GETTING ALONG WITHOUT SPECIAL ADVISER

His Helpers Come and Go, Although It Seems That They Usually Go

BY RODNEY DUTCHER

Washington — President Hoover continues to get along without any "Colonel House" in his administration and he hasn't even any Frank Stearns such as Calvin Coolidge had. There have been many who apparently applied, but none of them lasted very long.

Mr. Claudius Huston, if he ever relinquishes his tight clutch on the chairmanship of the Republican national committee, will just be one more trusted friend and adviser who has walked what might be described as the White House plank.

Claudius was "very close to Hoover" for many years. His was Hoover campaign manager long before there was any Hoover campaign and he sat at the other end of a private wire leading to Hoover during the Kansas City convention. After no was made chairman of the national committee he was observed visiting the White House nearly every day.

LOBBY REVELATIONS HURT

Disclosures of the Senate lobby committee about Claudius fearfully embarrassed Mr. Hoover and everyone else except Claudius himself, so that this has seemed to be the one instance in the long series of parting of ways which was tougher on the president than the other fellow.

Mr. James Francis Burke, counsel for the national committee, who was conspicuous in the recent executive committee negotiations in which Mr. Hoover and all other party leaders sought Huston's resignation, emerged at the time from a period of White House eclipse.

Burke's month-long desk at the White House and appeared to be Hoover's most confidential errand boy. One day last fall Burke moved out suddenly and there were various rumors in explanation — one gave as the reason Mabel Willbrandt's charge that Burke injected religion into the 1928 presidential campaign.

Mrs. Willbrandt was one of the campaign group whose usefulness was found to be about ended within a few months after election. The others included Dr. Hubert Work, Col. William J. Donovan and Horace Mann.

As secretary of the interior, Dr. Work was Mr. Hoover's close friend and was in the campaign for nomination. The beginning of his end came when he was appointed national chairman. After that it seemed as if Work had less and less to do with political affairs.

There were important Hoover supporters who publicly demanded his resignation right in the middle of the campaign and Dr. Work resigned a few months after the election in accordance with general expectation.

The beautiful friendship between Hoover and Donovan, who seemed to be unquestionably the fair-haired boy during the campaign, broke up after Donovan failed to get the attorney-generalship as he desired. Donovan was offered the governor-generalship of the Philippines, but he preferred to step out of the picture entirely. Mrs. Willbrandt wanted to be the new head of prohibition enforcement, but her aspirations were met so cool that she felt moved to enter private practice.

Colonel Mann, who had done heavy work in the south which carried various Democratic states for Hoover, also faded out in post-election months after a long period in which he had the run of the White House.

Then there was Edwin P. Shattuck, Hoover's friend and personal attorney. The low sugar tariff lobby and Shattuck on the theory that his relations with Hoover would be helpful and the lobby committee learned of it.

A dozen more persons might be mentioned who were once rather intimately associated with Hoover and who called frequently at the White House until the time their visits stopped suddenly and mysteriously. In some cases they are men whose names are not nationally known and who never held any official position, but their connections with Hoover dated back for years.

HINT AKERSON WILL QUIT

There have been persistent rumors that George Akerson, head of the White House secretariat, would resign soon. Akerson was an important figure in the Hoover pre-nomination campaign and is usually mentioned as one of Hoover's closest "advisers."

Some men appear to fall from grace and come back again. One "close to Hoover" was recently discussing another who had in times past been entrusted with many confidential Hoover missions and who was reported to have walked the plank.

"Oh, he has always been off and on," was the explanation. "Sometimes he stands as high and sometimes he doesn't stand anywhere at all."

Missing Couple and $70,000 Safe

Mystery cloaked the return of Charles Kern, 80, wealthy retired bakery owner and Mrs. Kern, above, to their home in St. Louis, alleging fears that they had been kidnapped by a gang of swindlers. The Kerns, who carried a $70,000 bank draft to be used in a real estate transaction at Toledo, disappeared from a train at Defiance, Ohio, and were missing for two days while police combed gargantuan haunts in the belief that they were held captive. Kern refused to reveal where he and his wife had been.

Frenchmen Also Boast Of Their "Biggest In World"

Paris — (AP) — "The biggest in the world" so often has been the label American achievement that the French have rather smarted under it. Yet of late, some of their inquiring minds have dug up records that make them feel less of an inferior complex.

When Dieudonne Coste and other French aces in past months brought back half the world's air records to France, patriotic statisticians added to those achievements these other "biggest" things:

The Eiffel tower, highest structure in the world.

The biggest reinforced concrete bridge, at Saint-Pierre-Duval.

The biggest metal viaduct, at Vauir, in the Cevennes mountains.

The fastest steam railroad train, running from Paris to Belgium, 135 miles at 60 miles an hour.

The fastest electric train, from Bordeaux to Bayonne, 133 miles at a shade under 60 miles an hour.

The biggest aviation hangars at Orly.

The biggest airport at LeBourget.

The biggest underground canal in the Rhone just outside Marseilles.

The most powerful searchlight, that at Mount Valerien, just west of Paris, developing a billion candlepower and throwing a beam of light over a hundred miles.

The world's fastest warship, the cruiser Tourville.

The biggest wireless station, at Saint-Assise.

JAILED RED REPORTED 'EXPERIMENTAL' STUDENT

Milwaukee—(AP)—The Journal said today that attempts by professors to obtain the release from the house of correction of "Fred Bassett," 23, leader in Milwaukee Communist activities, have revealed he was a student in the experimental college at the University of Wisconsin.

"Bassett," when on trial in municipal court testified his occupation was that of a "skilled laborer."

The Journal said the professors had maintained great secrecy in regard to their former student "but have been actively at work to obtain his release."

Prof. Malcolm Sharp is quoted as admitting he knew "Bassett" and that he was one of the students at the college. He refused to discuss the case.

"Bassett" does not attribute his political philosophy to the school, however. He told a reporter that "both professors and students in the experimental college have the ideology of the bourgeoisie, they are all professors and students, dispensers of capitalist bunkum."

PROVINCE OF BLIND

Malatia, Turkey—The town of the blind, Adiyaman is called. It is in provinces and lays in the dust and sand of the desert. Out of a population of 7000, only 209 can see, the others being wholly or partially blind through the ravages of the disease "trachoma." The town is one of desolation, no one laughing or enjoying amusements. The tap, tap, of blind persons making their way through the city is the only sound heard.

MAKE ASSESSMENTS FOR REPAIRS TO WALKS

Neenah—Special assessment lists to cover the expense of the extensive sidewalk repairs throughout the city were being compiled Tuesday morning at the A. E. McMahon engineering office, city engineers. The list will be presented to the city council at the meeting Tuesday evening.

Louisiana farmers plant legumes in pastures whose growth is retarded by lack of rain in summer.

FINISH BREAK WATER NEAR NEW GOLF CLUB

Neenah—The break water constructed in Lake Winnebago off the shore of the North Shore country club property has been completed. It is 200 feet in length and cost approximately $10,000.

The artificial harbor will protect boats anchoring off the shore of the club.

GANDHI PROGRAM IS WRONG, 80 MILLION MOSLEMS BELIEVE

Large Part of Population Have Little Faith in Leader

BY JAMES P. HOWE

Bombay —(AP)— Walls raised by Moslem leaders in various parts of India indicate that the 80,000,000 members of that faith have little confidence in the good intentions of their Hindu neighbors.

In a few districts descendants of the Mohammedans who ruled the land with an iron hand until the British came, 200 years ago, have supported the Gandhi movement.

But as a whole they have heeded their leaders and held aloof from the attempt to gain immediate independence for their country.

OUR INJURED IN AUTOMOBILE CRASH ON HORTONVILLE-ROD

New London Residents Hurt as Cars Come Together at Crossing

Special to Post-Crescent
New London—In an accident near the railroad tracks on the Hortonville road Sunday night three cars were involved in a crash. In a car driven by Frank Eit of this city, Dorothy Egert and Irma Egert were severely injured. The accident occurred when Eit, thinking he heard a train approaching, stopped at the crossing. At this moment a car driven by a Milwaukee party struck the New London car from the rear. The two cars were both knocked unconscious by the impact. Miss Egert, sitting in the front seat, and both being severely injured.

Another car containing Clarence Erge and Aloysius Barlow of this city, was approaching from the opposite direction. Seeing the obstruction ahead of them they had no choice but to take to the ditch. In the crash ensuing, both young men were bruised and cut, Barlow receiving cuts on his chin.

Both Miss Egert and Miss Egert were injured in another accident last night when a car in which they were riding with a party of young people crashed into a tree on the Hortonville road, and Susan Klatt, high school student, was killed. Neither the driver of the car nor Miss Ardis Pohlman, who were seated in the front seat, were injured in Sunday night's accident.

DESCRIBES TRIP OF GOLD STAR MOTHERS

Expedition Well Worth While, Army Man Tells Rotary Club

Special to Post-Crescent
New London—Col. W. B. Wallace, lately in charge of a contingent of gold star mothers visiting the battlefields of France, who is a guest of Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Raman, Dorset, addressed the Rotary club Monday at Elwood hotel. Col. Wallace asserted that perhaps the one thing accomplished by the war department in carrying through the expedition is the general satisfaction expressed by the majority of mothers in leaving their sons to rest on foreign soil. This satisfaction, the speaker continued grew out of the fact that each cemetery in France is so beautifully kept up.

The rehabilitation of France and the changes brought about since the war torn soil and buildings have been reclaimed from almost total devastation proved an interesting part of the speaker's discourse. Only one battlefield out of the countless areas, Col. Wallace continued, has been left as the end of the war found it.

The description of the pilgrimage to the cemeteries and battlefields was preceded by an account of the manner in which the entire expedition was carried out. Nothing was spared, the speaker said to make the journey one of interest and comfort. Col. Wallace was placed in charge of a contingent numbering 215 American war mothers.

A highlight of the day was W. L. Kiesel, head of the Kiesel Motors company of Hartford.

Rotarians are arranging for a dinner next Monday at the Springfield golf course, at which Rotary will be guests. A golf match will be planned for those who can spend the afternoon on the links. Dinner will be served at the club house at 6 o'clock and an informal after dinner program is being arranged. Dr. F. J. Pfeiffer is chairman of the stunt committee.

Two Couples United by Rev. Speckhard at St. Martin Lutheran Church

Special to Post-Crescent
Clintonville—A double wedding ceremony took place at 7 o'clock Saturday evening in the St. Martin Lutheran church in this city, when two young couples of this community were united in marriage by the Rev. Walter O. Speckhard.

Miss Emma Peters, daughter of Mrs. William Peters, route 1, became the bride of Carl Essman, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Essman, route 2. They were attended by Mr. and Mrs. Walter Essman and Mrs. Myron Benke, who was the maid of honor.

Miss Ella Westphal, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Westphal, route 5, was married to Elder Peters, son of Mrs. William Peters. The maid of honor was Miss Jeanette Peters and other attendants were Miss Viola Wisniewski and Arthur Westphal.

Valois Peters acted as flower girl, and Rueben Benke as ring bearer for both couples. A reception for a large number of relatives and friends was held at the Peters farm home, southwest of this city, after the ceremony.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Essman will make their home on the Essman farm on route 2 and Mr. and Mrs. Elder Peters will reside with the bride's mother on route 1.

OBSERVE GOLDEN WEDDING

Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Buckbee, Sr., who reside on a farm west of this city, celebrated their golden wedding anniversary, Saturday, Aug. 16. Hundreds of friends and relatives of the aged couple gathered at the village hall in Marion, Saturday evening, where the festivities took place. Dancing furnished entertainment and a midnight lunch was served. Mr. and Mrs. Buckbee presented with many gifts and a purse of money. They have resided in this community for many years and are well known here. They are the parents of three sons, Frank of Cranston, Gilbert, Jr., of this city, and Cecil, at home.

The Clintonville Athletics shattered Wittenberg's hopes of winning the 1929 pennant in the Wolf River Valley league when they defeated the Grays here Sunday by a score of 13 to 6. Only three more games remain to be played this season and Clintonville now has a lead of two games over its closest opponent. Petika was in his usual good pitching form and struck out 13 men, while Boulaas was on the receiving end for the Athletics. They were allowed 14 hits and 13 runs. Two base hits were made by Timman, Nelson and Ruppenthal, the latter having two to his credit. A three-run hit was made by McClone.

The battery for Wittenberg was Dragermiller and Schleyter, the former striking out 8 men. The Grays were allowed 8 hits and no runs.

Other W. R. V. league results were Marion defeated Antigo 6 to 1; and Shawano won two games of a double-header from Tigerton by the scores of 5 to 4, and 5 to 7.

In the Shawano County league, the Clintonville Boosters beat the Big Falls 5 to 5; Shawano beat Manitowish 7 to 2; and Le Roy beat Ripon-Tilleda by a score of 11 to 2.

MAN SEVERELY HURT AS STOVE EXPLODES

Fire Partially Destroys Large Bee House; Loss Estimated at $1,500

Special to Post-Crescent
Shiocton—Edwin Deyer was severely burned Saturday morning when a large bee house started burning following a gas stove explosion. Mr. Deyer, who has been at work in the building was filling a gasoline stove from a three gallon can when it exploded, throwing the contents over him and setting fire to the inside of the building.

The explosion blew out the window and the fire, through the latter opening, Mr. Deyer was able to get outside after making his way through 25 feet of flames. He was burned about the face, arms and legs. His shirt was scorched. He was taken to New London for medical attention.

The building which is a two-story structure was built by the owner, who was not injured. The loss is estimated at $1,500, a figure covered by insurance.

The loss included about 600 pounds of honey, an extractor and a gasoline stove, for a total which was stored in the building.

Tom Niese, who is employed at the local meat factory under construction had his right shoulder severely bruised Saturday morning when a large cement block weighing 50 pounds, fell from a 12 foot scaffold striking his shoulder. He was taken to New London for an X-ray examination. No bones were found to be broken.

The Shiocton baseball team was defeated on the home diamond Sunday afternoon by Readfield by a score of 21 to 11. Next Sunday Weyauwega will play Shiocton on the Shiocton diamond.

Word was received here of the death of Mrs. Vera Lockery, daughter of Mrs. William Lock and sister of Mrs. Emma Morse and Rudolph and Lewis Locke of Shiocton which occurred at Appleton Saturday afternoon.

The Willing Workers will be entertained at the Congregational church parlors Wednesday afternoon. The hostesses including Mrs. Fred Turner, Mrs. Leon Kennedy, Mrs. George Kaufman and Mrs. Milo Thompson.

Machines Win First Game In City Championship Series

DEFEAT BRANDTS IN CLOSE GAME MONDAY EVENING

Losers Get Four Hits and Trail 4 and 1 at End; Play Again Wednesday

THE first game in the city series to determine the softball champion was played Monday evening at Brandt park after managers of both teams had kept the date and place more or less of a secret until a short time before game time and which therefore resulted in several stories as to where it would be staged.

The Appleton Machine company and the Brands were the contestants and the Brands lost by a score of 4 and 1. The Machines are from the American league, the Brands from the National league. The Brands' manager, the Forde, is the city's manager of the Forde to hit safely the tosses of Schwartz, Machine company hurler, resulted in defeat of the National leaguers. They counted but four hits off the red sweatered team's hurler, two of them being bunched in the third inning when two runs were scored.

Jim Lautenschlager was on the mound for the Forde and gave seven hits, three of them bunched in the third inning and good for two runs. He struck out one batter while Schwartz whiffed two.

Monday's game was watched by a comparatively large crowd which found plenty of seating space in the grandstand and cheered and razzed the players as it saw fit. The next game of the series also will be played at Brandt park at 5:30 Wednesday evening.

The Machines broke the tie in the scoring column by getting one run in the second inning when Radke tallied. The Forde came back in their half the third with a score to tie proceedings but the Machines countered with two more in their half and pulled out in front.

As far as the Forde was concerned the ball game was all over after the third inning for they failed to get another run. The seventh game saw the Machines come through with a tally by Totzke and the game was sewed up for good. The Forde threatened in the ninth when Hartzheim got on after a hit but he died at second as the next two batters were easy outs.

SUNDAY'S RESULTS
Appleton 10-6, Corners 7-5.
Readfield 21, Shiocton 10.
Wauwagea 7, New London 4.

Central Wisconsin league standings remained unchanged after Sunday's schedule, the first games in the last round of league play. Appleton Merchants with a twin killing to their credit are out in front by a full game and are followed by Readfield which bumped Shiocton in a merry swatfest, 21 and 11.

Wauwagea is in fourth place as result of a win over New London which occupies the fifth rung of the ladder. The cellar championship is definitely given to Murphy's Corners, Appleton's victim Sunday. The Corners have won but three games this season.

GEORGE KELLY IS NOW WITH BRUINS

McCarthy Purchases Former Giant First Sacker from Minneapolis

Chicago (AP)—Manager Joe McCarthy of the Cubs, has a new first baseman, but is not quite certain that he should use him right away.

Long George Kelly, former New York Giant and Cincinnati first-sacker, yesterday was obtained from Minneapolis of the American association in a trade from Minnie Mose, young southpaw pitcher and another player to be named later this week. Kelly was grabbed to sit in for Charlie Grimm, who suffered a spike injury Saturday.

However, while negotiations for Kelly were going on, McCarthy sent Lester Bell to first base. Bell obliged with three hits Sunday and came right back with three more yesterday. Kelly may have to wait until Bell cools off, before going to work.

What the Stars Did Yesterday

Hack Wilson, Cubs—Clouted Phil pitching for forty-second homer as three singles.

Irving Hadley, Senators—Held Tisler to six hits and beat them, 5-4.

Lou Gehrig, Yankees—Drove in three runs with two singles and thirty-fifth homer against White Sox.

George Earnshaw, Athletics—Pitched steady ball to turn back Browns, 6-4, and hance up nineteenth victory of season.

Dick Bartell, Pirates—Doubled with bases filled in ninth to drive in tying and winning runs against Robins.

Dayton, Ky.—Loyd Tom Hawkins, Los Angeles, outpooled Seal Harris, Chicago, 10-2.

Brooklyn Loses To Bucs; Now Fighting To Hold Off Rush Of N. Y. Giants

Cubs Win as Malone Pitches 15th Victory; Hack Gets Homer

BY ORLO ROBERTSON
Associated Press Staff Writer
A few days ago the Brooklyn Robins were fighting to keep a foothold on first place in the national league pennant race. They failed in a crucial series at Chicago and now they are battling to stave off the mad rush of the Giants.

The Robins dropped a game further out of first place and a step nearer the idle Giants in third position yesterday when they lost 4 to 3 to the Pittsburgh Pirates. Going into the last half of the ninth Uncle Robbie's boys held a one-run lead by reason of Glenn Wright's homer. Dick Bartell advanced to the plate with the bases loaded and rapped a sizzling

FOOTBALL LEAGUE IS REORGANIZED

Northeastern Wisconsin Amateur Loop Will Have Six Teams

Reorganization of the northeastern Wisconsin football league was completed Monday evening at a meeting of team representatives at New London. Delegates attending the meeting were from New London, Chiroville, Shawano, Little Chute, Rhineland, with Menominee absent.

Randkuma, a member of the league last year was not represented and it is understood will not play football this season. Rhineland will be given Kaukauna's berth.

Myron Hea, Shawano, was again named president of the league and it was decided to run the league on a strict amateur basis. The question of officials was also up for discussion and a schedule of games presented and approved.

DOUBLEHEADERS PAY, CARDINAL BOSS FINDS

St. Louis (AP)—The Sunday double-header program instituted this season by President Sam Breadon of the St. Louis Cardinals has proved successful, both at the gate and on the field. Figures indicate. Taking advantage of a new National League rule which Breadon himself sponsored, the Cardinals rearranged their schedule so twin bills have been on tap every Sunday the team has been at home, save April 26, when rain intervened.

Eight Sunday double-headers have been played this season and they attracted 177,611 cash customers, an average of 22,000 per twin bill. Only three times has the attendance fallen below 20,000 and twice it has exceeded 30,000.

Of the eight double-headers, the Cardinals have won five, split even in two and lost one.

DOUBLE DOWN THE THIRD BASE LINE—A blow that scored two runs and gave the Pirates the game.

CUBS IN SWATFEST

The Cubs pounced on two Phillie pitchers for 17 hits to win 17 to 3 and increased their lead over the Robins to three and one-half games. It was the champions' eleventh victory in the last 13 starts. Pat Malone held the Phillies to eight hits and accounted for his fifteenth game of the season while Hack Wilson connected with his forty-second homer, one short of the league record set last season by Chuck Klein, who saw the ball sail into the bleachers from his position in the Phillies outfield.

The three leaders in the American league won, Philadelphia downing St. Louis 6 to 4, Washington turning back Detroit 5 to 4 and the Yankees beating the Chicago White Sox 11 to 4.

An uprising in the eighth inning gave the Athletics the decision over the Browns. Four runs crossed the plate during that session while Walter Stewart took an early trip to the showers. George Earnshaw, hung up his nineteenth victory.

HADLEY IS HERO

Irving Hadley was the hero of the Senator's triumph over the Tigers. He handed out just six hits although enough of them were bunched in the sixth to allow the Tigers to count three times.

Herb Pennock turned in a sterling performance in the White Sox downfall. The 35-year-old southpaw was hit hard at times but was stingy in pinches while not issuing a base on balls. Meanwhile the Yankees in general and Chapman, Gehrig and Byrd in particular, were doing some steady hitting. Chapman collected four hits, Gehrig, three, including his thirty-fifth home run and Byrd the same number.

Cleveland and Boston were rained out. Only two games were scheduled in the National circuit.

WESTERN OPEN BEGINS OVER DETROIT COURSE

Detroit (AP)—A small army of golfers—with professionals as usual, by far in the majority—moved on this city today to compete for the western championship.

Of the 171 entered for the event, 31 qualified last year, leaving 139 places in the opening play to be passed out among the remaining 140 entrants who will play in the qualifying round tomorrow at Indian Wood course.

Three former holders of the title are among those who must play in the qualifying round. They are Walter Hagen, Detroit, Johnny Farrell, of New York and Charles "Chick" Evans, the Chicago amateur.

George K. Vintner, professional at Butte des Morts is among the professionals at the tourney. He left for Detroit Sunday to play a couple practice rounds before the qualifying round.

Expect Badger Gridders To Play To 200,000 Fans

MADISON (AP)—Nine teams from seven states are expected to attract approximately 200,000 persons and swell the University of Wisconsin athletic coffers more than $250,000 during the coming football season.

Under direction of Head Coach Glenn Thistlethwaite, who will begin his fourth season here, Wisconsin's candidates will assemble 15 strong on Sept. 15 to begin preparations for a season which supporters hope will redeem the disasters of 1929.

The 1930 model of the Badger football machine will make its first appearance in Randall stadium here Oct. 4 in a double header against two eleven from the Midwest conference—Carlton of Northfield, Minn., and Lawrence of Appleton. The teams are expected to play before a crowd estimated at 10,000 persons which will yield $4,500 for the Wisconsin athletic treasury.

The Badgers will be inducted into Western conference competition the following Saturday when Coach A. A. Stagg brings his University of Chicago eleven here. Added to the stimulus of the two school's proximity which means many Maroon followers on hand, the game will observe Dad's day. A crowd of at least 25,000 persons is expected and Chicago will carry back about $30,000 as its half from the game.

An intercollegiate contest with Pennsylvania combined with the observance of homecoming will attract at least 30,000 persons here Oct. 18. The game will open a home and home series with the Easterners, and

GOLF DEFEATS ARE TOUGH ON CADDIES TOO, IT WOULD SEEM

Chicago (AP)—Four grimy, soot covered youths were pulled from the top of a coal tender in an outlying railroad station last night.

"Where to, boys?" the railroad detective asked.

"We're almost home, thanks," answered one of them.

"Where from?"

"St. Paul—the $10,000 open golf tournament," and the boys identified themselves as Herman Meyers, William Marks, Arthur and John Dugan, caddies for four Chicago professionals, Jack Hutchinson, Tom Kelly, Sonny Rouse and Al Espinosa.

"Ten thousand dollars is a lot of money," put in the detective.

"Yeah," asserted the caddies, "but none of our guys won any of it."

They were released.

LITTLE FOX LOOP RACE GETS CLOSER AS LEADERS LOSE

Menasha 5, Wrightstown 4.
Kaukauna 10, Neenah 3.

INDICATIONS that the Little Fox league race is tightening up and may go to most any team in the next few weeks, is indicated in the result of Sunday's games which finds the first four teams in the loop closely bunched.

Little Chute is making a bid for honors before the curtain is rung down and Sunday walloped Appleton 18 and 4. Cully Hammen's hurling was one of the features of the game, the Athletics getting only five hits off his slants. He fanned 14 batters. Paul Kostka was the hitting star with four hits out of six.

Menasha Falcons won again behind the hurling of Jerry Fowler, former fly of the valley league club, and seem to be ready to make it interesting for future opponents. The Falcons defeated Wrightstown, 5 and 4, despite the fact they had six errors chalked up against them and counted only six hits. The Falcons now are tied with the Chute both within striking distance of first place.

Powell's hurling was the only thing that kept the Falcons in front. He whiffed 14 batsmen bearing down in the pinches to keep the rubber from being crossed.

MILKS BEATEN AT COMBINED LOCKS

Will Journey to Oconto for Next Sunday Afternoon's Battle

Appleton Pure Milk company baseball team took a trimming Sunday afternoon from Combined Locks at Combined Locks, the score being 10 and 6. Five runs in the first inning off Pitcher Grayson gave the Locks a lead the Milks could not overcome.

Grayson's offerings were especially pleasing to the Locks clubbers who rattled off five runs in no time. Josephs who replaced him in the second frame had much better luck and allowed only four blows in the eight frames he worked. Josephs struck out seven men. Gullison worked behind the plate for the Milks.

Verley was the hurler for the Locks and gave eight hits, fanning nine batters. The meeting was the third between the clubs and the first the Milks have lost.

Next Sunday the Milks will journey north to Oconto for their afternoon's labors. A number of fans plan to accompany the team.

ARGENTINIAN SHOWS AGAINST FLOWERS

New York (AP)—Justo Suarez, Argentine lightweight, goes out after the third straight victory of his American campaign, at the Queensboro Stadium tonight in a ten round bout with Bruce Flowers, hard-hitting Negro from New Rochelle, N. Y.

Sharkey-Campolo Bout Smacks Of Tex Rickard

BY WILBUR WOOD
Copyright 1930

NEW YORK (AP)—Madison Square Garden came out on top after all. There was a distinctly Rickardian touch to the way W. C. Carey and Frank Bruen made the Sharkey-Campolo match for the Yankee Stadium on Sept. 25. They have been enjoyed some inward laughter as they sat around all Friday afternoon listening to the scribbles estimating how much the Sharkey-Campolo match would draw for Mike Malloy at Soldier's field in Chicago.

Carey and Bruen knew that, barring a final and most unlikely turn of the wheel, they had Sharkey safely laid away for a September match here. Yet they sat around and played dumb and it was not until after the last of the scribbles had departed for the day that the Garden moguls finally received the word from Boston that everything was set and made the announcement of the big match.

Rickard was a great one to get everybody on the wrong track and then spring one. He liked to see the boys run in all directions trying to get straightened out on a big yarn.

Sharkey and Campolo are slated to go fifteen rounds. The terms for the heavy-weight brawl have not been given out, but it is not very difficult to make a good guess. Sharkey was offered 37 per cent several days ago but turned it down, unless assured that he would get the teams will split $50,000 in gate receipts.

MEET PERDUE OCT. 35

WISCONSIN will go on the road the first time on Oct. 25 when it plays Purdue at Lafayette, Ind. The Boll-weavers' homecoming is expected to pack 20,000 persons in Ross Ade stadium and assures the Badger of nearly $30,000 as their end of the gate.

The largest crowd that probably will see the Badgers in action in 1929 is expected to attend their game with Ohio State at Columbus on Nov. 1. It will be the first meeting of the teams since 1920 when a last minute Buckeye forward passed Wisconsin out of a Western conference championship. Nearly 60,000 persons, making a gate of approximately $100,000 are expected to be on hand to see the clash.

Wisconsin will undertake a "breather" here Nov. 8 when South Dakota State college, Brookings, plays in a game expected to attract 7,500 persons, and a gate of $5,000.

If pre-season predictions work out Northwestern will be in the thick of the Big Ten conference race on Nov. 15, the day Wisconsin plays the team at Evanston, Ill. That situation will assure a crowd of 40,000 persons, and give the Badgers $55,000 as their share of the gate.

A rivalry more than 40 years old will be renewed here Nov. 22 with Minnesota game. The Gopher-Badger clash, one of the Midwest's traditional encounters is expected to attract at least 30,000 persons and offer an $50,000 gate to be split.

I should not wonder if people with patience enough to read what I write should obtain the impression that I think a right-handed person should play golf entirely with the left side of his body. As a matter of fact I continually harp upon the importance of using the left side principally because the average player is naturally right-handed and therefore wants to use his right hand too much.

I have often thought that if a truly left-handed person could be taught to handle a right-hand golf club the trouble would make an ideal combination. If there is one fault which the average players all have in common it is the inability to originate or sustain any motion with the left side.

There are two ways in which the left foot can operate when the club begins its travel backwards. One way is correct; the other the cause of more trouble than a months practice.

TEXAN PLAYS WITH "WHITE" POLO TEAM

H. A. Williams Replaces Earle A. S. Hopping as No. 2 on U. S. Team

New York (AP)—Selection of America's "big four" to defend the Westchester polo cup against Great Britain next month apparently is not quite the cut-and-dried proposition it looked to be.

So effective had been the work of a quartet composed of Tommy Hitchcock, Eric Pedley, Winston Guest and Earle A. S. Hopping in early trial matches, that many experts were willing to risk a modest wager that no other polo player in the country could break into it.

NICK CULLOP SETS NEW HOME RUN MARK IN ASSOCIATION

Breaks Bunny Brief's Record of 9 Years Standing; Brews Win

BY WILLIAM WERRES
Associated Press Sports Writer

CHICAGO—(AP)—Bunny Brief's nine-year-old American association home run record has been ruined by the power of Nick Cullop's war club.

The Miller outfielder yesterday got his forty-third homer of the season off Sergeant George Connally in the first inning of the final game of the series with Toledo, to send into the discard Brief's mark of 42, set in 1921 while a member of the Kansas City Blues.

The blow was incidental in giving the Millers a 14 to 10 decision over the Mud Hens.

Old Dinty Gearing, Milwaukee southpaw, came up with a fine bit of pitching to give the brewers a 3 to 1 victory over Indianapolis. Gearing gave the Indians only four singles, two of which were of the infield variety and might have had a shut-out but for errors by Eddie Grimes and Danny Blossom in the sixth inning.

Percy Lee Jones, former Chicago and Boston National League southpaw, also turned in a good pitching performance to help Columbus to a 7 to 3 win over St. Paul. Jones held the Saints to six hits and fanned five batsmen.

Tommy and St. Paul, by losing yesterday, lost a chance to gain on Louisville, which was rained out at Kansas City.

The Colonels suffered a real misfortune in their efforts to win the league title, when Babe Gantzel suffered a fractured wrist in the first game of Sunday's doubleheader at Kansas City. Gantzel, a hard hitting third baseman, at first was thought to have suffered no more than a bruise when he was struck by a batted ball, but an X-ray examination yesterday revealed a fracture.

MANDELL AND MANAGER BREAK AFTER 9 YEARS

Chicago—(AP)—A contract with nearly a year to run not withstanding, Eddie Kane has had his last out in former lightweight champion Sammy Mandell's earnings—as far as Sammy is concerned.

After nine years of association, Mandell and Kane broke up yesterday and apparently not on the best of terms.

Kane announced that he no longer was the Rockford shell's manager, but would collect a share of the latter's purses until July 6, 1931, when their contract expires.

Mandell last night said Kane would get no more money from him and that he would go to court to keep his money. Mandell also said that a statement by Kane in which the latter said the former lightweight king had earned $400,000 under his management, was fiction.

HACK'S 42ND HOMER IS OVER KLEIN'S HEAD

Chicago—(AP)—Chuck Klein of the Phillies, who last season set an all-time National League home run record of 43, had a perfect view of Hack Wilson's forty-second homer. The cub slugger caught one of Phillips' pitches in the eighth inning of yesterday's game and slammed it right over Klein's head into the right field bleachers.

Wilson earlier in the season was contented to try for a new National League record. Now, he is seriously out to do better than Babe Ruth this season and today needed two round trip hits to tie the Babe.

PARKER AND COHN ARE TENNIS MEET FAVORITES

Milwaukee—(AP)—Frankie Parker, 14-year-old Milwaukee net star and Jay Cohn, Santa Monica, Calif., national boys' champion, reigned as favorites today as the second day's play in the forty-second annual Wisconsin State open tennis tournament got under way.

Cohn advanced from the first rounds with an easy defeat of William Stafford, Madison, 6-1, 6-0, in the boys' singles and Parker defeated Richard Weigler, Milwaukee, 6-0, 6-0, in the boys' doubles. Recorded yesterday when Roy Voecker, Milwaukee, eliminated Edward Wasmach, Des Moines, Ia., 13-11, 6-1, in the junior singles.

Among other results yesterday were:
Junior singles: Harry Dilline, Jr., Des Moines, Ia., defeated Jack Metternich, Neenah, 14-12, 6-1.

BADGER GOLFERS SHOW UP THREE FAMOUS PROS

Waukesha—(AP)—Two Badger golfers, Doc Treacy of Woodmont, Milwaukee, and Len Gallett, assistant pro at the Milwaukee Blue Mound course, showed up Tommy Armour, Harry Cooper and Horton Smith, national links luminaries, at the Waukesha Country Club invitation test meet yesterday by circling the eighteen holes with 69 each.

Cooper, winner of the St. Paul Open tournament Sunday, counted 74; Armour made 73, and Smith led the visiting stars with 70.

New York—Harold MacLennan, N. J., knocked out Armando Carlos, Italy, 6-0; Pardo, Uruguay, Italy, knocked out Walter Sells, Kansas City, 1-0.

KIDDY PARADE TO FEATURE ANNUAL OUTING AT PARK

Children's Picnic Set for Tuesday, Aug. 26, at Kaukauna

Kaukauna—About 200 Kaukauna children are expected to take part in a kiddy parade at the annual children's picnic to be held under the direction of the playground directors on Tuesday, Aug. 25, at LaFollette park.

Youngsters will decorate their doll buggies, tricycles, bicycles, coaster wagons, scooters, and kiddy cars and enter the parade which will start at Park school and end at LaFollette park. Miss Agnes Egan and Mrs. T. Clark, playground supervisors, urge every boy and girl, owning one of these to enter the parade. Prizes will be given to the best in each class.

Everyone entering the parade is asked to register with Miss Egan as soon as possible. She can be reached mornings and afternoons at the Park school playgrounds and in the evening by telephone at her home on Lave-st.

The parade will begin at 10 o'clock in the morning. A basket dinner will be served at noon and the afternoon will be spent with games. There will be baseball for the older boys and games for the small boys and girls. Children too small to enter the parade should be accompanied by a person old enough to watch them at the picnic.

This will be the second annual Children's picnic here. The affair marks the closing of the summer playground period which is for three months every summer. About 350 children attended the picnic last summer.

Sports Question Box

Question—Runner was on second with no one out. Batter hits the ball to right field. Both runner and batter advanced thinking it was a fair hit. Umpire called the ball foul. Runner on second was almost home, out across the diamond to go back to second, the ball was played there and the umpire called him out for not touching third on the way back. Was the umpire right?
Answer—No. He was all wrong.

Question—Who has done more for their respective sports, Babe Ruth or Bobby Jones?
Answer—Ruth has kept a keen interest alive in baseball which needed it more than golf needed Bobby Jones.

CURTUIS' POLICY TO FOLLOW STRESEMANN'S

Berlin—(AP)—The foreign office said Monday that the policy of Dr. Julius Curtius, foreign minister, would continue along the lines laid down by the late Dr. Gustav Stresemann, especially in regard to the Polish corridor and other frontier questions.

This followed a speech made earlier this month by Gottfried Treutler, German minister of the occupied regions, who complained that the German had been unjustly treated in the matter of her eastern boundaries. Polish opinion immediately became excited, especially regarding the controversial corridor.

At the same time the foreign office reports that Germany contemplates introducing the question of revision of the Treaty of Versailles at the league of nations meeting next month.

NEED RAIN BADLY TO SAVE POTATOES

Early Crop Only About One-third of Average Yield in County

BY W. F. WINSEY
In the face of the usual forecasts of big yields of potatoes, farmers in the towns of Dale and Horton, two of the potato raising districts of Outagamie-co, are generally agreeing that unless the fields get a soaking within a few days there will be no late potatoes at all, and that the early potatoes were not over one-third of an average crop. Except in areas not affected by the drought, the same potato prospects apply to all the districts of Wisconsin.

The yield of corn is estimated in August at 40 bushels per acre for Wisconsin. That estimate is exceedingly generous and if it were based upon actual conditions, no fault would be found with it here. It is exceedingly doubtful if corn in Wisconsin has ever yielded an average 40 bushels per acre, and if it has nobody knows it as most of the corn goes into silos, much of it in the form of fodder, and very little of the balance is husked and weighed.

While from one-third to one-half of the cornfields of northeastern Wisconsin are covered with exceptional stands of corn especially on lowlands, the chances are that a few of the ears in the better fields will fall and ripen naturally. The stalks and leaves in one-third of the cornfields have been so badly burned by the drought that they are beyond recovery and will make very light and poor silage.

If the drought continues there will be very little filled and naturally ripened corn in Wisconsin this fall, and if it is soon broken the average will not be above 20 bushels per acre. From one-third to one-half of the farmers, however, will have all the corn fodder silage they need but the balance will be short.

G. O. P. WOMAN LEADER TO QUIT W. C. T. U. POST

Washington—(AP)—Mrs. Lenna Lowe Yost revealed Monday that her first act in preparing to assume active leadership in Republican women's activities was to resign as Washington representative of the women's Christian Temperance Union.

Returning to the capital to complete the only preliminary left—getting settled in an apartment—the new director of women's activities of the Republican national committee said she would be deeply immersed in her new work by mid-week.

"Of course, I resigned from the other," she said, simply. "I got in touch with our president, F. M. Alexander Boole, by long distance telephone the evening I agreed to take this."

Beyond this, she refrained from commenting on prohibition. She viewed without enthusiasm reports that her selection amounted to a bid for dry support.

Carolina Woman Lost 47 Lbs.

In 3 Months and Feels Years Younger

"I have been taking Kruschen Salts for nearly 3 months. I have continued taking one teaspoonful in warm water every morning. I then weighed 217 pounds, was always bothered with pains in my back and lower part of abdomen and sides. "Now I am glad to say I am a well woman, feel much stronger, years younger and my weight is 170 pounds. I do not only feel better but I look better, so all my friends say."

"I shall never be without Kruschen Salts, will never cease taking my daily dose and more than glad to highly recommend it for the great good that is in it." Mrs. S. A. Solomon, New Bern, N. C., Jan. 1934.

"P. S. You may think I am exaggerating by writing such a long letter but truly I feel so indebted to you for putting out such wonderful salts that I cannot say enough."

A bottle of Kruschen Salts that lasts 4 weeks costs but 85 cents at Schlicht Bros. Co., 3 Stores and Volts Drug Store and druggists the world over. Take one half teaspoon in a glass of hot water every morning before breakfast—walk a little each day. Do not overeat—adv.

DIAMONDS

Somewhat indescribable is the prestige and value which a diamond brings to the owner. Naturally this prestige and value is dependent upon the good taste with which the diamond is mounted, and the intrinsic value of the stone itself.

Your Birthday

"Leo"

If August 20th is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 8:30 a. m. to 9:30 a. m., from 1 p. m. to 2 p. m. and 11 p. m. to midnight. The danger periods are from 11 a. m. to noon, and 6 p. m. to 7 p. m.

Adverse influences on this date for females—man's world seems more favored and protected. An important business deal—secret and heated discussions. Be careful of partnerships and false friends! Nervous anxiety!

Children born on this August 20th will have fruitful, imaginative minds and will be eager students—a delight to their teachers. They will be mischievous and up to mischief pranks. If they be boys they will be typical "boy scouts." If they be girls, they will be clever with the needle.

You are what is known as an "out-of-door" man or woman and it would be the height of folly for you to attempt a sedentary career, imprisoned within four walls. Such an act would be courting disaster. You are never physically or mentally fit without plenty of exercise and fresh air. You do not crave constant companionship. You would rather be by yourself than submit to the companionship of an uncongenial second party. A certain amount of solitude is restful to you—you enjoy silent contemplation. You do not have to be part of a herd to be happy and you are not afraid without its protection.

You do not fear work and you do not try to shirk your responsibilities—the more you have, the happier you seem to be. You seem to be able to get fun out of everything; you are obliged to do. Your pleasures are cheap. A very big thing about you is that you dare be unconventional. You are not easily tempted to spend more than your income. You do not do things just because they are "smart," unless backed by better reasons. You do not set such a high value on money, that you miss the things which money cannot buy. You have a grown-up intellect, but you will always have the heart of a child. It often hurts you to do the things which hard, cold reason makes you do. You hate any form of cruelty and you loathe the injustices of the world. You pray for love and kindness to all.

Modern Method Lifts Them Out

CORNS

Callouses Go Too

The safest and real modern way to remove corns, root and all—out to stay is soak them every night for 3 or 4 nights in an invigorating, stimulating Radox Footbath.

Then put on mesh shoes again, walk and dance with greatest comfort because there's nothing left to ache. No pain, no trouble.

Radox liberates oxygen which softens hard outer layer of corn, each night penetrating further and further through the pores, carrying the salts to actual root of corn, so loosening it that it comes right out. Nothing like healthy, free from corn feet to assure happy days! Get a package of Radox at Schlicht Bros. Drug Co. or any drugstore—adv.

A NICE GIRL COMES TO TOWN

By Mayzie Greig

SYNOPSIS: The summertime love affair between Mary Lou Leslie and Brynmor. Brynmor more hits the rocks. The very night Mary Lou comes to London. Brynmor finds her too much of a "nice girl" since he has become enamored of Clarice Day, a night club dancer. By chance Mary Lou becomes acquainted with Tony Titherington, a wealthy young aviator, who promises to show her the town in view of Brynmor's indifference. Seeing a light in Clarice's flat at four o'clock in the morning, Brynmor enters to find her with a man whom she introduces as Freddy Mason, her out-of-town cousin. Brynmor immediately takes a dislike to him, especially when he hears Mason tell Clarice, "You've got to consent." Brynmor can't figure what he meant.

Chapter 7
NEW CLOTHES
The next afternoon Mary Lou stood in the little fitting room of Jay's exclusive gown shop. Jay had promised to fit her out in the latest creations so she might travel in Tony Titherington's set without the embarrassment that was sure to result if she wore her home-made dresses from Brimwood.

She stood before the mirror in a two-piece suit of fashionable Italian blue. The color looked striking on the cool blondness of Mary Lou. "It is awfully nice," she murmured.

And it was. Trust Jay for that. The dress was georgette, girlish, demure. The coat was face cloth, slightly sophisticated, perfect in line with a flair in front and a soft silver fox collar. There was a small felt hat to go with it.

She turned to Jay, laughing. "I never meant to take it, I can't afford it, really. But now I've seen it on me, I couldn't bear not to have it."

"Bless you, of course you're to have it," smiled Jay. "Don't bother about the expense. I'll give you trade prices and you can have your whole life to repay. Now for an evening gown. And undies. . . . We consider them as important as the frocks, you know. A divine creation can be ruined if the slip doesn't fit."

"I'm going to try a golden picture gown on you. Most blonds wouldn't dare to wear it, and that's all to the good. Never wear colors that obviously suit you, especially not at night."

So Jay talked, sitting on the arm of the chair, smoking a cigarette, while an assistant brought in the golden frock. It was the sort of gown Mary Lou never would have dared to buy for herself. There was a subtle suggestion of wickedness to it.

She commented on this to Jay. "I didn't believe you'd get it, but you're right," Jay laughed. "One should look the least bit wicked at night."

By this time the assistant had the golden gown slipped over Mary Lou's head. Again Jay had been right. It was the new Mary Lou who had come to life last night.

She said, instead: "It's ever so nice of you."

"Rot," from Tony. "I'm looking forward to it no end myself—especially Sunday—if she carries it off." He muttered the last phrase under his breath. "Well, I must, toddle. I'll call for you tonight at a five. I'm going out to see Gay Girl this afternoon. She has something wrong with her inside."

"Gay Girl?" Mary Lou questioned. He laughed. "Gay Girl's my monoplan. I always speak of her as though she were a person. As a matter of fact, she is and she's alive to me as any girl in the world. . . . See you tonight. Cheer!"

A round of parties with Tony! Mary Lou executes a stroke of revenge—in tomorrow's chapter.

REPUTED DAUGHTER OF LATE CZAR CAN NOT BE DEPORTED

Mme. Anastasia Tschakovsky Can Stay Here as Long as She Likes

BY LEMUEL F. PARTON
Copyright, 1930, by Const. Press
New York—It is due to a plan of former Secretary of State Robert Lansing, put through about 15 years ago, that Mme. Anastasia Tschakovsky, reputed daughter of the late Czar Nicholas II of Russia, may remain in America as long as she pleases, with hundreds of other czarist Russians, not subject to the passport laws.

In the confusion at the end of the war, there were vast numbers of exiles and refugees who could claim no country, who were in distress and who wanted to go somewhere. They made an enigma which no single government could solve, but Secretary Lansing worked up a scheme which has made America a safe and permanent haven for the white Russians, as well as for others who float in the void of no-man's land, due to the complicated and sometimes rather weird workings of the immigration laws. He induced the League of Nations to become a sort of super-postbox of such invalidated citizenship and to issue "travel documents" for persons without a country. It is such a document which enables the war and distracted Mme. Anastasia to remain here as long as she pleases, under the patronage of Miss Annie Burr Jennings, heiress to a part of the Standard Oil millions.

Assistant Secretary of Labor Husband informed this correspondent today that the government had no power to deport the czar's putative daughter. He emphasized the fact that this implies no intended discrimination between soviet citizens and the czarist Russians.

"A citizen of the soviet entering this country has a country to which he may be deported, at the end of a six months' period," said Mr. Husband. "When he procures his passport, it carries this definite limitation of the period for which he may remain. Mme. Tschakovsky has no country to which she may be sent, not being a subject of the soviet regime, and she is here under the League of Nations document which gives us no power to deport her. Furthermore, we have no relations with the soviet government. There are, I believe, about 500 or 600 Russians living here under the protection of such documents. There are other former citizens of other countries who, having lost their citizenship, avail themselves of the same privilege. For instance when a British woman marries an American citizen, she loses her British citizenship, but does not acquire American citizenship."

"Such a person may apply to the League of Nations, and on a showing of facts and a statement of actual need for changing his residence or moving from one country to another, receive a travel document which will allow him to travel about the world."

"For persons entering under the ordinary passport, there is now no time limit for deportation. It used to be that after five years residence in America the status of limitations was operative against deportation, but, on a charge of criminal activities the government may now proceed against an individual although he has been in this country 20, 30 years or more."

"But, obviously, a Russian refugee has no country, and, under the travel document here, cannot be deported."

GALE COLLEGE PREPARES FOR FIRST HOMECOMING

Galesville—(UP)—Gale college officials are preparing for the first homecoming for former graduates which is planned as an annual affair. Dates are September 27 and 28. A banquet for old grads and their friends, Sunday church services, when former students now in the Lutheran ministry will officiate; a business session of the gale college club, and a baseball game between present students and the alumni team, are features.

A souvenir booklet will present old grads in their college activities. Gale college, opening its thirteenth year under Lutheran control Sept. 1, was established in 1839, and is one of the oldest schools in Wisconsin.

NEW FUR COATS ARE STRAIGHT IN LINE

General Idea, It Seems, Is to Avoid Appearance of Thickness

BY AILEEN LAMONT
Copyright, 1930, by Const. Press
New York—Slim in effect, rather straight in line, the fur coats for late autumn are already with us. Sometimes there is a slight flare to the skirt, sometimes the sleeves puff but the general idea is to avoid all appearances of thickness or bulk. Furs that are flat, such as squirrel and mink, have a new vogue. And collars no longer are exaggerated.

FEATHER IN YOUR HAT

Little, brilliantly colored feathers are swanky both for sports and afternoon hats. A large, pale green felt hat for wear with a green and white garden party frock, has a narrow band of feathers as a band around the crown. The feathers, very tiny and fragile, are in green, yellow, red, pink and blue.

THREE TRAINS—CATCH 'EM!

A tea gown, worn by Irene Rich, who is one of the best dressed stars in Hollywood, has three trains. The main train is 18 inches in length, and two panels falling from the hips from two other trains. The gown is of rose cream, Elizabeth, in three tones, and is trimmed with cream lace. It is intended for wear in the home or at family dinner.

DAUGHTER OF FAMOUS ARCHITECT IS DEAD

Newport, R. I.—(UP)—Miss Mary Pope, 17-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Russell Pope of New York and Newport, is dead here, the victim of her own automobile, a recent gift of her grandmother.

A prospective debutante in the fashionable summer colony, she was fatally injured last night when her machine collided with another car. She suffered a fractured skull and died before reaching a hospital.

Miss Adelaide S. Whitehouse, daughter of former State Senator and Mrs. William F. Whitehouse, who was riding with Miss Pope, escaped with slight injuries while James W. Sullivan, Jr., driver of the second car, was unhurt.

Miss Pope's father is a widely known architect. His summer home here is the Cave Cliff, one of Newport's showplaces.

This Case Improved After Two Weeks Treatment

Neuritis, as well as other disorders ascribed to poor blood, such as Rheumatism, Arthritis and Anemia, show distinct improvement, according to many letters received, after treatment with RESTORIA. One user writes: "My ailment is neuritis. I am much better since I started to take RESTORIA. I had only taken it two weeks when I began to improve." RESTORIA is a constitutional treatment that has proved effective in many chronic deep-seated blood disorders which cause swellings, sores and other skin eruptions. Highly praised for its general tonic effect. Do not be discouraged before you have tried RESTORIA under our guarantee of satisfaction. Just go to any convenient drugstore and purchase a $1.50 size bottle of RESTORIA—enough for two weeks treatment. If you do not notice any improvement during the treatment as directed—if you are not then convinced like others that RESTORIA can be of help in your trouble—return the empty bottle to the druggist and ask for your money—adv.

LIFE'S ODDITIES

By George Clark.

"Good heavens, Henry! It's those people we met on our vacation. They've accepted our invitation to visit us."

STATE UNEMPLOYMENT STILL IS AGGRAVATED

Milwaukee—(UP)—The Bankshares Review, published by Wisconsin Bankshares corporation, reports the state unemployment situation still aggravated, but agriculture in a favored position considering drought damage in adjoining areas.

Wisconsin and Maine are listed as two outstanding "bright spots" where drastic lack of rainfall has not seriously damaged crop production.

"Wisconsin is much better off than states to the south, east and west. The small grains are harvested, and where threshing is in progress, reports are of excellent yields. Recent timely rains and cooler weather helped both potatoes and corn, which were showing the effects of earlier heat and dryness. "The drastic cut in dairy production does not apply to Wisconsin if the reduction reported in every other state proves true, it will mean a net gain for Wisconsin dairy farmers. Wisconsin likewise looks good to benefit in the potato market."

The drop in aggregate employment and payrolls from May 15 to June 15 was considerably greater than in previous months of the present year and more than usual for the season. Construction contracts likewise declined.

WANT SHORT WAVES TO BROADCAST TO CENTRAL AMERICA

Westinghouse Applies to Federal Radio Commission for Permit

BY ROBERT MACK
Copyright, 1930, by Const. Press
Washington—Short wave as a means of projecting the South and Central America a commercial advertising campaign for American products, just as they are commercialized over broadcasting stations in this country, is the plan of American commercial interests.

By removing present restrictions against commercial broadcasting, the plan is to invade Latin America, particularly Latin America, with domestic sponsored programs. Such an appeal has been made to the federal radio commission, and the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company, which is negotiating the International American broadcasting service, has the present relay broadcasting stations which now are licensed only experimental.

Time would be sold over this short wave station, operating on a 100,000 watt power, in American countries just as practically all American can broadcasting stations derive their revenues.

The Westinghouse station, at East Pittsburgh, covers many South and Latin-American countries, which "experimental" programs, which have been broadcast since 1922, as a matter of fact, its programs are received in all sections of the world.

A hearing on this application will be held before the commission on Oct. 17. Westinghouse then will endeavor to have lifted the present experimental barrier. There are serious doubts, however, as to whether the request will be granted, for it is probable that others of the 40 stations licensed for experimental relay-broadcasting will seek similar privileges, with a consequent scramble for the few assignments which then would be available.

For the radio industry alone, it is believed by Westinghouse, there would be a lucrative field in South and Central America, which as sections has been unexploited by American interests. To pick up programs broadcast by American stations, hundreds of short-wave receivers have been purchased by residents of these countries. But the English and German companies have monopolized this business, by virtue of prior entry to the field.

American radio manufacturers could sponsor programs over the relay broadcasting arrangement, and thereby create good-will and a market for their products in these countries.

ATHLETES' BODIES SIMILAR TO CATS' SCULPTOR CLAIMS

Stockholm—(UP)—The bodies of athletes, acrobats and other physically trained persons resemble most those of the cat family, particularly the tiger, says Bruno Linper, Sweden's greatest painter of wild animal life and grand old man of art. In recent years he has surprised his admirers by making his debut as a sculptor.

When he was a student at the Swedish University of Upsala he used to follow for hours the street fakirs who did tumbling stunts, just to observe the play of their muscles, and the lines of their bodies. They reminded him of cats, he says.

The dream of his youth was to travel in India and see real tigers, but then he could not afford it and now he has not the strength. The only tigers he has seen are those of the Zoos and the circus cages. The wild animals of Sweden he has observed at close range in their natural habits and with rare skill he has caught their motions on his canvas, birds in flight, foxes at the kill, moose, rabbits and deer.

From wild animals to boxers, wrestlers and other trained athletes the step is not long, he says.

OVERHEAD

OVER EVERYTHING COMES THE DAWN PATROL

Unforgettable story of the boys who took the line to heaven with the odds a million to one; a smile on their faces and a prayer that they might come back to the woman they loved. Stars, tragic moments that made men of young stars. For this is the tale of the world's Escadrille, flying gloriously into the dawn seldom to return.

COAL COMPANIES OPPOSE ORDER TO CUT DOWN RATES

Don't Believe Commission Should Have Made Recent Change

BY RUBY A. BLACK
(Post-Crescent Wash. Bureau)

Washington — A number of coal companies have filed a brief with the Interstate Commerce Commission seeking postponement of the Commission's recent order, lowering rates on coal to southern Wisconsin points, and asking a reargument of the case.

The case in question was brought by the Illinois Coal Traffic Bureau charging that rates from all Illinois mines to Wisconsin points were unreasonable and unduly prejudicial in favor of rates from west-bank Lake Michigan and Lake Superior docks to Wisconsin and Michigan.

The Commission found rates to southern points in Wisconsin, including Beloit, Janesville, Burlington, Monroe, Portage and Fond du Lac unreasonable, prescribed lower ones, but considered present rates to all other Badger State points to be reasonable.

Now the C. Reiss Coal Company, the Milwaukee Western Fuel Company and the W. H. Fugh Coal Company, want the case reopened because they say the rates recently established are higher and are prejudicial to those from west bank Lake Michigan ports. The four principal ports are Green Bay, Milwaukee, Sheboygan and Manitowish, the brief states and these were considered in fixing blanket rates from lake docks.

One of the Commission's reasons for lowering the rates to southern Wisconsin was that they were higher than rates based on the Holmes-Hallowell scale. Now the protesting coal companies argue that the dock rates are considerably higher than the Holmes-Hallowell scale. Also the dock rates, based on the average distance from the four ports, prevent a number of origin points to from enjoying the advantage of their location.

Their position seems to be that the Commission should not have lowered rates on coal to any Wisconsin points and certainly not because of a conflict with the Holmes-Hallowell scale.

ABSENT VOTERS MAY FILE BALLOTS AUG. 26

Outgumie-co voters who will be unable to appear at the polls Sept. 13 at the primary election, or who will be absent from their election districts on the date, will be able to secure ballots as soon as they are printed, according to John E. Hantschel, county clerk.

Ballots cannot be returned to the various city, village, town, or county clerks until after Aug. 26, the first day for filing. They then may be turned in any time until Sept. 12, the last day for filing.

COUNCIL TO ACT ON MAYOR'S VETO

Water Works Building Question to Hold Spotlight Wednesday Night

Mayor Goodland's veto of the council resolution authorizing construction of a new water commission building will be the limelight question before the common council Wednesday evening, and just as it has held the center of the stage for the past two weeks, it is expected to push all other matters into insignificance Wednesday night. After a long and heated debate at a special meeting last Wednesday the aldermen voted 7 to 5 in favor of the new building. The mayor's veto was filed the first of last week.

Public hearings on two ordinances, the one establishing an arterial on Fremont-st from S. Oneida-st to S. Kernan-ave, and the one changing the name of East and West Levis-st to East and West Roosevelt-st, will be held.

Describes Influence Of Press As Friend Of Radio

Toronto — (P) — The debt of radio broadcasting to the newspaper "is beyond all computation," Dr. Lee DeForest, pioneer inventor, told the annual convention of the Institute of Radio Engineers which opened here today.

Decrying what he described as "the use of broadcast for direct and blatant advertising," Dr. DeForest, delivering his address as president of the institute, stressed the part the daily press had played in popularizing broadcasting.

"Radio's debt to the newspaper for daily program notices, program reviews and for the generous radio section is beyond all computation. Unquestionably it was this astonishing interest on the part of the press in broadcasting during its early, struggling days, ten years ago, which alone enabled it to survive those crucial years until an awakened popular interest made radio self supporting. I sincerely feel that the debt will be partially repaid only when certain forms of advertising most obviously ill-suited for radio's medium go to the printed sheet."

"The influence of radio on the press now become profound. While its inherent limitations will never permit it to supplant news-print, yet radio has largely eliminated extras on prize fight results, and has shown a curtailment of interest in baseball news. But radio has this limitation — it must present its programs when the broadcasters choose and not when the listeners desire it."

Turning to the question of broadcast advertising, Dr. DeForest said that in his inaugural address last January he sought "to point out a very real danger to the fullest usefulness and enjoyment which radio has power to confer, a menace steadily growing greater. This, he said was "the use of the broadcast for direct and blatant advertising in larger and longer periods."

"If we consider the prosperity of the industry alone," he continued, "we engineers, dependent on radio for our livelihood, have ample ground for emphatic protest. But there are higher considerations—the thought that short-sighted avarice is at work to curtail the usefulness, the beneficence of radio in the home, in the school, as a means of entertainment, of education, of uplift generally. Unless the evil is voluntarily cured we are headed straight for government regulation."

MANY PRISONERS IN EXTENSION COURSES

Madison — (P) — Wisconsin treats its prisoners as human beings and consequently many attempt to redeem themselves through education offered by the University of Wisconsin extension division, Chester Allen, of the extension staff, said in a radio address here today. His talk was one of a series on prison work being presented over WHA, university station.

The personal interest shown by a person outside the prisoner's family is novel to the inmate, Mr. Allen explained and consequently he gives cooperation to the project of study and reading.

"The state has a large responsibility for seeing that the men who cost it millions to catch are trained in usefulness after they are caught," he concluded.

One hundred and thirty-one new fighters ordered by the air corps will be equipped with ring cowled engines for additional speed.

MORE CHEESE IN COLD STORAGE NOW

Butter Stocks Are Lower,
However, Farm Bureau
Reports

(Post-Crescent Washington Bureau)
Washington — On Aug. 1, 1930, stocks of cheese in cold storage were higher than a year ago, while butter stocks were lower, according to the Bureau of Agricultural Economics.

Stocks of butter in cold storage on August 1, 1930 were 145,297,000 pounds compared with 151,621,000 pounds on August 1, 1929, indicating a lower butter production, according to the agricultural report.

All varieties of cheese showed increases, with American cheese going to 88,564,000 this year; Swiss cheese from 5,534,000 pounds in 1929 to 6,330,000 in 1930; brick and munster cheese from 1,205,000 pounds in 1929 to 1,451,000 in 1930, and Limburger cheese 1,172,000 pounds in 1929 compared with 1,452,000 in 1930.

Other varieties of cheese showed an increase from 10,252,000 in 1929 to 10,938,000 pounds this year.

Stocks of frozen poultry, case eggs, and frozen eggs also increased. Frozen poultry in cold storage on August 1, 1930 had a total of 46,890,000 pounds compared with 40,896,000 a year ago, while case eggs increased from 8,362,000 cases in 1929 to 11,202,000 this year, and frozen eggs went from 91,488,000 to 116,353,000 pounds in a year.

The wholesale prices of butter, cheese, and milk all rose during the month of July but were lower than a year ago, according to the Bureau of Labor Statistics. This decrease during the year was 13.4 points. Considering the prices of 1925 as 100, prices of butter, cheese and milk in July 1929 were 102.4 compared with 90.4 in June 1930, and 92 in July 1930. Prices of most foods declined over 4 per cent during July.

This Is the Way We Go to College

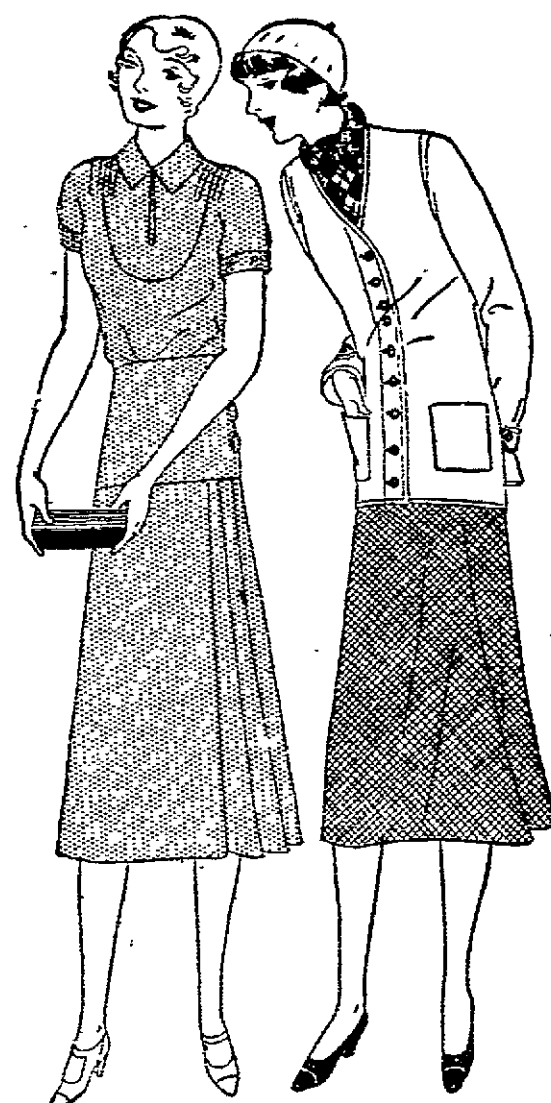

NEW trunks, new bags. Everything shining, including the countenance. This is the way we go to college! We shop for frocks and coats and hats where campus clothes are best. We buy our sweaters in series, and our separate skirts the same way. We know where to get glad little frocks for evening — and pyjamas that words fail us for describing!

A COAT with fur — setting forth with that, let the fabric be tweed and a belt be on the scene. $59.50.

TWEED without fur, if preferred. It costs a bit less and suits as many smart purposes. Its price is $19.50.

"TRAVEL TWEEDS", the very smartest new frocks that look like tweed but are really silk, are ever so useful for the campus. They emerge from your traveling bag fresh and unwrinkled. They fit into your needs when you are taking a week-end trip, they give a good account of themselves for any daytime occasion. $16.75.

KNITTED SUITS AND FEATHER WEIGHT WOOLENS — is a college wardrobe complete without them? There are wonderfully becoming ones in a new shade of red, and brown, orange and blue (a shade lighter than navy) are just as smart. $29.50.

SLIPOVER sweaters for indoors and out keep the cost of school clothes down. There are exceedingly smart ones at $2.95.

DRESSY occasions call for afternoon frocks, festive and tasteful in the smart new combinations of colors $29.50.

PRINTED silk pajamas with trousers as wide as skirts—these go into college trunks. The more the merrier. $15.00.

Telephones make the home more livable

SOME homes possess a natural charm. They are very livable. Comfort is expressed in many different ways, . . . cozy, inviting chairs, . . . warm, glowing lamps, . . . time-saving devices, . . . and telephones where they are most likely to be used.

In the living room, for instance, there is a telephone near an easy chair. Upstairs, there is a telephone at the bedside in the master's bedroom, and perhaps another in a guest room. In the kitchen, too, a telephone is conveniently placed. . . . All adding, in countless little ways,—day and night, to the comfort of the home.

Expensive? No! Telephone comfort can be had in any home at very little cost.
